GERMAN ATTACK AT NIEUPORT FAILURE; DIXMUDE IN RUINS

Many Prisoners Were Taken by the Russians — Germans Preparing to Resist Invaders East of Mazurian Lakes — Transporting Large Bodies of Troops.

Paris, Nov. 14.—French official communication says that the German attack against the Bridge at Nieuport resulted in failure and that various offensive movements of the enemy around Ypres have been checked. The retaking of Dixmude by the allies has not been confirmed but the town is a burned ruin.

Amsterdam, Nov. 14.—Germans took very few prisoners at Dixmude. Belgian losses in Wednesday's fighting, according to Berlin, were 6,000 killed and 8,000 wounded. Belgians fought with utmost desperation, says the German report received here.

Danger in Channel Has Been Removed.

London, Nov. 14.—Naval news of importance is that submarine menace off Dover has been relieved by dragging of chains along the bottom of the channel. This procedure is believed to have destroyed certain German submarines which for weeks have been successful in eluding the British guard ships.

Petrograd, Nov. 14.—In the last stages of the retreat from Poland, the Germans covered 25 miles daily. Their column which fell back on Kalisz lost 80,000 men, of whom 2,000 were killed.

There has been revolt among the Constantinople and Adrianople garrisons. Five German officers were killed by exploding of bombs at the palace of Enver Bey, Turkish war minister.

Paris, Nov. 13.—The Petrograd correspondent of the Havas Agency sends the following: The conclusion drawn from the latest news is that the German troops who, in their retreat, have occupied all the defiles to the east of the Mazurian lakes (East Prussia) where they have placed heavy artillery, intend to resist the Russians in that section.

"The Germans hope that on these positions, which they consider impregnable, the shock of the Russians will be broken. However, yesterday the Russians were successful in sorties to the east of the lakes.

"Throughout all Prussia, railway passenger traffic has been suspended. The lines for transporting only troops, appeared with a view to a new concentration which is said to have been decided upon by a recent council of the Austro-German general staff at Cracow. This council is reported to have decided to change completely the plan of battle.

London, Nov. 14.—A Copenhagen dispatch to the Star says: "News from Helsingfors, Finland, states the Russians have withdrawn troops from the east and west of Finland to join the main Russian army, indicating that Russia's fear of a Swedish invasion of Finland has vanished. This withdrawal has made a good impression in Sweden."

Berlin, Nov. 14.—It is officially announced that the Germans have captured St. Eloy, south of Ypres, and that they have crossed the Yser canal west of Langemarck.

GERMANS SOON TO BE PUT UPON DEFENSIVE

Allied Armies Now Stronger Than at Any Time Since War Began.

London, Nov. 14.—The slackening of the Teutonic offensive in the west, as noted in yesterday's official reports from the allies' headquarters, is regarded here as due to the fact that Germany is obliged to maintain battle fronts so far apart as East Prussia and the North Sea. Huge bodies of German troops have been alternately thrown across the intervening thousand miles to counter anything in the nature of a positive success gained at either end.

Military observers here take the view that Russia on one side and the armies of three nations on the other side, now having had time in which to mobilize their forces more fully, the effectiveness of this process of shifting large bodies from one theatre to the other is no longer so pronounced, and that any thinning of the German line on either side must mean hereafter at least a temporary assumption of the defensive on the part of the Germans, and the resumption of the offensive by the allies. For the moment Berlin, according to British opinion, appears to regard the Russian menace as of paramount importance.

LADY KNIGHTLY MEMORIAL.

London, Nov. 14.—The committee dealing with the memorial to Lady Knightly have devoted £500 to build a chapel at St. Peter's church, Regina, as a memorial to Lady Knightly's work in helping women to emigrate to Canada.

LADY STRATHCONA'S GIFT.

London, Nov. 14.—Lady Strathcona, has provided an armored motor car for the London Mounted Brigade.

ONTARIO CALLS FOR BELGIAN ORPHANS

Small Canada Farms Also Offered to Homeless Victims of War

Toronto, Nov. 14.—To relieve to some little extent the burden of the homeless Belgians and to add a staunch citizenship of her people, the province of Ontario in the near future will have the first 200 Belgian children orphaned by the war settled in her comfortable homes.

It is the latest of many proposals which have been made and acted upon in Ontario for the benefit of the Belgian people. The Association of Children's Aid societies of Ontario has informed the Ontario government that they are ready to place an initial 200 of these motherless little ones in good country homes in Ontario. It is most likely that the offer of the association will be accepted by the government, although no reply has yet been made to the request.

The proposal has met with general favor all over the province, and local societies in various parts of Ontario have written stating that they are eager to place specific numbers.

Indeed, it seems Belgian children could be placed in Ontario much more readily than the native children, so great is the sympathy for the Belgian people. Other practical schemes are being devised daily in this province for the assistance of the homeless people. To some extent there is probably a selfish motive that Ontario might be able to add to its population many of this industrious and determined race. From six different parts of the province have come offers of extensive tracts of land.

"The scheme is to subdivide this into small farms of ten or twenty acres, and hand it over to the Belgians on such terms that for several years they would be under no obligation except the maintaining of themselves.

Right from the heart of Ontario's German belt, Berlin city, there have been offers of this kind, and in the event of the bringing out of 200 orphan Belgian children it is quite probable that some of them will be fostered in homes of which the heads are Germans or of German name and ancestry.

EMPIRE WILL NEED CANADIAN GRAIN AS WELL AS SOLDIERS

London, Nov. 14.—The Westminster Gazette to-night, referring to Canada's willingness to increase her contribution of men to 150,000 by next autumn, says: "We recognize to the full that Canada is in the fight to the full extent of its resources, but we shall expect the recruiting at home will have settled the issue before we have to bring any such number of men from Canada. We have to remember that from Canada is required a double service. She will have to be to a large extent the granary of the Empire, and if we are to come successfully through this war the men working in the fields of Canada will be doing their share almost as effectually as those at the front."

NAVAL POLICY AGAIN PLANNED AT OTTAWA

Political Pamphlets Out; Rogers Wants Quick Election to Stop Inquiry.

Ottawa, Nov. 14.—In the absence of Premier Borden the Rogers wing of the government has just issued and is now distributing political pamphlets condemning dominion fleet units and advocating a contribution of Canadian dreadnoughts to the British navy for service in the North Sea. The pamphlets strongly support the gift of three dreadnoughts which the government proposed to parliament on December 5, 1912. They condemn the Canadian navy plans left by the Laurier government when it went out of office. It is understood that despite circumstances which have brought into question the value of dreadnoughts, while the destruction of the Emden by the cruiser Sydney, of the Australian navy, demonstrates the value of local fleets, Hon. Robert Rogers is determined that the Canadian government shall adhere to a policy of contributing dreadnoughts for service in British waters and in against a Canadian navy on the Pacific or the Atlantic.

Mr. Rogers plans, if possible, to have an election next January on a naval aid issue before parliament has a chance to inquire into the details in connection with the Canadian expeditionary force.

GREAT MISERY WAS CAUSED BY GERMANS

Some Reports of Atrocities Not Correct, but Much Cruelty is Known

London, Nov. 14.—Stories of Germans cutting off the hands of children need to be accepted with considerable caution. It is undoubtedly true that numerous Belgian children, including infants in arms, were mutilated during the German advance through the villages, but in many cases this was due to confusion, the children getting in the way of advancing cavalry, rather than to the deliberate intention of the soldiers to murder children. One case occurred at Melle immediately before the arrival there early in September. This village had just been destroyed without reason or excuse by German soldiers. After their departure a child's foot, hacked off at the ankle, was discovered amid the ruins. There was nothing to show how this mutilation occurred.

Inquiry among refugees in England has failed to produce any case of mutilated children. There is a real danger of weakening a very grave accusation against the German army in Belgium by over-emphasizing the doubtful cases of child atrocities. What did happen throughout scores of villages was that the German advance cavalry deliberately shot peaceful citizens in order to create a feeling of terror; drunken German soldiers violated women and girls in wholesale fashion, and German officers employed trivial excuses in order to burn villages and hang and shoot all males.

Men and women were forced to march at the head of German troops as a shield when advancing in attack. Plundering was deliberately done over a large part of the country in obedience to superior orders. But this bad conduct was not universal, some regiments winning goodwill by their decency and restraint.

The misery caused by others among the civilian population is so terrible that it is hardly possible to exaggerate it, but there are signs that as a result of the publicity given in the world press regarding the German army's doings in Belgium the troops are now being kept under stricter discipline and are behaving better.

CANADIAN OFFICERS GET EXPERIENCE ON YPRES BATTLEFIELD

Western Cavalry Units of Dominion Contingent Are Being Used in France on Lines of Communication — Officers Saw Tremendous Artillery Duel.

Paris, Nov. 14.—Canadian troops are now upon the battlefield in France and are taking part in the fighting along the line of the North Sea to Arras, according to reports received here.

London, Nov. 14.—Three Canadian officers, two identified with artillery regiments and one with the engineers, have been in the firing line for the past week at Ypres and Dixmude. They returned to London last night and to-day three more from Salisbury Plain will join the British headquarters staff in France.

There are several bodies of Canadian troops doing duty across the Channel already, but only on lines of communication. These are certain westerly cavalry units whose training was complete before they left Valcartier.

Trenches Three Hundred Yards Apart.

One of the officers tells a graphic story of the recent fighting. "British staff officers told us we were witnessing the most terrific artillery duel which had yet occurred on this wing. It began just before dawn on Wednesday, and although our guns were splendidly served and made it impossible for any living thing to remain in the three-hundred yard gap that separated the trenches, we are told that an infantry attack by the Germans would surely follow.

NEW ZEALAND OFFERS 15,000 MORE SOLDIERS

Wellington, N. Z., Nov. 14.—Prime Minister Hon. Mr. Massey said that if it became a duty to ask New Zealand for more men the state could send 15,000 men.

"After about three hours the German big guns slackened. There was a rather thick fog, and it was not long before our advanced position got in touch with the infantry. We found out afterwards they were the famous Prussian Guards. Our lighter guns had been closely shifted so that they enfiladed the advancing enemy.

"Our heavier guns made splendid practice, considering it was still misty and before our entrenchments opened rapid fire over 1,000 of the enemy were accounted for. When machine guns caught them, they wavered, but driven desperately by their officers they managed in some spots to get past our main trenches. In the end, though, they were repulsed, and in following up their retirement our men advanced within a few yards of their entanglements.

"Their losses were enormous. Ours were fairly heavy, but I would say they lost four or five times as many men as we did and gained practically nothing.

"Ever since South Africa I have had the greatest respect for the British infantry when allowed to fight at close quarters, but never have they been so brave, so effective, as they are now. They are heroes every one of them."

This officer returns to his brigade to-day. The Canadian artillery are using shell now in their training at Bulford camp.

SWEEPSTAKE MONEY IS FOR CHRISTMAS GIFTS

London, Nov. 14.—Col. J. A. Currie, of the 48th Highlanders, Toronto, has handed nearly £50 to the Princess Mary's fund for Christmas gifts to the troops, as the result of a sweepstake aboard the Lapland on the voyage across. The sweepstake was concerned with the time of the vessel's arrival, but the ship was so late the sweep was declared off.

BRITISH CASUALTIES.

London, Nov. 14.—Casualties among British officers up to November 11 show 682 killed, 1,334 wounded and 254 are missing.

EARL OF KINGSTON WOUNDED.

London, Nov. 14.—The Earl of Kingston has been wounded in both thighs, fighting at the front.

MAP SHOWING WHERE RUSSIANS ARE OPERATING AGAINST AUSTRIAN AND GERMAN ARMIES

In East Prussia the Russians under General Rennenkampf have occupied Lyck, Goldap, and are advancing upon Insterberg. Another Russian army has occupied Johannsburg, and further west is operating in the region of Soldau. In the centre the Russians, after driving the Germans back from Warsaw and the Vistula, have reached the frontier of Posen and Silesia, across which Cossack outposts have penetrated. The German frontier line runs from Posen to Kalisz and thence to Cracow. Should the Germans fail to hold this line they will have to fall back upon the line from Cracow, through Breslau, Posen, Thorn and Grandenz to Danzig, on the Baltic. In Galicia the main Austrian armies, which were originally in touch with the German centre where the Vistula and San join, were unable to return to Cracow and have been forced southward against the Carpathians. The German army in East Prussia is no longer in touch with the German army on the Posen and Silesian border, while the Russians have severed the connection of the Austrian army with the German forces based upon Cracow.

LATE NIGHT WAR NEWS

BULLDOG PLUCK SHOWN AT SOISSONS CHARGE

Seemingly Impregnable Position Taken by British Under Deadly Fire

London, Nov. 14.—One of the signal achievements of British bulldog pluck and one which is magnified tenfold when properly understood was the success of General French's army in taking the German trenches north of Soissons. The news came merely as an incident of the battle all along the line and caused no more than a ripple of satisfaction. But to those who understand how the Germans had succeeded in entrenching themselves on the sloping hills the feat stands out as one of the strikingly brilliant bits of attack which overcome almost insurmountable obstacles.

It is interesting, perhaps, for the layman to realize something of the task that the British were called upon to perform. To the fire-burned, smoke-blackened troops and their officers it has all become more or less a matter of grim, determined routine so far as the actual work of dislodging an enemy is concerned, but the average individual the odds will doubtless seem one hundred to one against success when the conditions of attack and defence are outlined.

It must first be realized that the Germans north of Soissons proposed to hold a line of defence at any cost. While the British were occupied in fighting their way across the river the Germans on the hills to the north had ample time to prepare for their determined stand. Their guns were placed on the crest of the hills, where they had as much protection as the best genius of their officers could provide. Some two hundred yards in front of the guns the first row of trenches, known as "cover-trenches," were dug, and some hundred yards further forward rows of "fire-trenches" were carefully prepared. In front of the "fire-trenches" were placed land mines invisible to the enemy.

This work completed, machine guns were disposed in and behind the rows of trenches in such manner that they could deliver frontal, oblique and flanking fire at the approaching attack. In addition there were, of course, the thousands of spitting rifles fired by the infantry so buried in the trenches that they could scarcely be seen at all.

By the nature and contour of the ground the British to storm these positions had to first expose themselves to fire from a distance of nearly a mile. From the layman's viewpoint the disadvantage of troops trying to climb up a hill and drive back an enemy conveniently situated near the top is in itself sufficiently disconcerting. It resembles a man trying to get up a staircase and beat down a man waiting on the top step.

Let the reader then picture just roughly what the British troops were called upon to do in getting even to within striking distance of the Germans concealed in the covered trenches north of Soissons.

First the British troops must come into view at something like a mile's distance. The guns from the crest of the hill, which incidentally have the range found in advance, send their shells crashing into the ranks as they are visible, while at the same time the rapid fire guns and the infantry rifles from the cover trenches begin pouring out their deadly missiles. Needless to say, the effect of this onslaught tears gaps in the ranks, which must immediately be filled up by fresh men if the attack is to have its force.

For this distance of nearly a mile to the foot of the slopes the British have to surge forward, while every man remains a target for the fire from the guns on the hill-crest and for the infantry in the cover trenches. When they reach within three hundred yards of the rifles and invisible infantrymen they are met with machine guns, which compel them to bring up artillery to engage them. Pushing further forward, they necessarily encounter the mines, and here at this moment pour forth the full blast of infantry and rapid fire from the "fire-trenches," heretofore silent so that their location remains undetected until the proper moment.

The blasts of firing more than double, and at this moment invisible German troops waiting for the attackers to be in their position of greater weakness, spring forward and charge the climbing Britishers to drive them down the slope. Here it is an attack of crouching, ready Germans with a maximum of best protection and the advantage of being uphill against Britishers shot at by artillery, infantry, machine guns and rapid fire guns and with ranks thinned by the terrific explosion of concealed mines.

It seems, indeed, as if there could be only one result and that only by a miracle could the attacking force escape. That is the German theory, and, on paper, ninety-nine out of a hundred persons agree it is sound. But in practice at Soissons the British bulldog did not try to escape. He just kept on coming, to judge by the results, and took over the German trenches for himself.

CANADIAN SERGEANT GUILTY OF BEGGING

Sergeant in the Canadian contingent, London, Nov. 13.—Captain Shaw of the Canadian Field Artillery, asked the magistrate of the Marlborough Street police court to make an example of a sergeant in the Canadian contingent, who was charged with begging. The prisoner, who was sentenced to one month in jail, declares he served in the South African war and gave up a good situation in Canada to join the contingent.

PIMPLES FOR THREE YEARS

Marvelous Zam-Buk Cure.

Mr. Winard F. Allen, of 255 Pleasant street, Halifax, N. S., writes: "Up to a year ago my face was a mass of pimples, which, besides being extremely embarrassing, caused me a good deal of pain. I used all kinds of tonics and salves, also remedies prescribed by my physician. These were of very little benefit to me. My face would clear somewhat at times, and I would think that I was on the road to a permanent cure, and then the trouble would return, and the pimples and sores be worse than ever. This condition of affairs continued for about three years.

"One day I happened to see an account of a remarkable cure of eczema by Zam-Buk, so I thought I would try Zam-Buk also. I sent for a box, and the results were so very pleasing that I procured a larger supply. I persevered with Zam-Buk for three months, and at the end of that period my face was cleared of all unsightly pimples.

"I attribute my recovery solely to the use of Zam-Buk, as I did not use any other remedy during the time I was using it. As my case was of long standing and very obstinate, I consider my cure a wonderful triumph for Zam-Buk, and would heartily recommend it to anyone afflicted as I was."

If you are suffering from eczema and pain from pimples, boils, eczema, ulcers, running sores, or any skin trouble, you too should apply Zam-Buk.

At all druggists and stores, 50c box, 3 boxes $1.25, or postpaid from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, on receipt of price. Refuse substitutes. Send this advertisement, name of paper, and 1c stamp for free trial box.

COCOS ISLAND GETS BRIEF VIEW OF WAR

Emden's Party Got Hurried Call From Ship While Destroying Cable Station

Keeling, Cocos Island, Nov. 13.—It was early on Monday that the unexpected arrival of the German cruiser Emden broke the calm of these isolated little islands, which the distant news of the war had hitherto left unmoved. One of the islands is known as Direction Island, and here the Eastern Cable company has a cable station relaying messages between Europe and Australia. Otherwise the inhabitants are all Malays with the exception of the descendants of June Charles Ross, a British naval officer who came to these islands ninety years ago and founded the line of uncrowned kings.

The war seemed to be very far away. Official bulletins passed through the cable station, but they gave very little real news, and the only excitement came when it was rumored that the company was sending out rifles in case of a raid on the station and orders came that the beach must be patrolled by parties on the lookout for Germans. Then we heard from Singapore that a German cruiser had been dispatched to these islands, and toward the end of August one of the cable staff thought he saw searchlights out over the sea, and suddenly we were awakened from our calm and made to feel that we had become the important place in the whole world-wide war area.

At six o'clock Monday morning a four-funnel cruiser arrived at full speed at the entrance to the lagoon. Our suspicions were aroused, for she was flying no flag and her fourth funnel was obviously a dummy one made of canvas. Therefore, we were not altogether surprised at the turn of events. The cruiser at once lowered an armored launch and two boats, which came ashore and landed on coral beach three officers and forty men, all fully armed and having four Maxim guns.

The Germans—for all doubt about the mysterious cruiser was now at an end—at once rushed up to the cable station, and entering, turned out the operators, smashed the instruments and set armed guards over all the buildings. All the knives and firearms found in possession of the cable staff were at once confiscated.

I should say here that in spite of the excitement on the outside, the work was carried on in the cable office as usual up to the moment when the Germans burst in. A general call was sent out just before the wireless apparatus was blown up.

The whole of the staff, was placed under an armed guard while the instruments were being destroyed, but it is only fair to say that the Germans, working in well disciplined fashion under their officers, were most civil. There was no such brutality as we hear characterized the German army's behavior toward civilians and there was no attempt at pillaging.

While the cable station was being put out of action the crew of the launch grappled for the cables and endeavored to cut them, but fortunately without success. The electrical stores were then blown up.

At 9 a. m. we heard the sound of a siren from the Emden, and this was evidently the signal to the landing party to return to their ship, for they at once dashed for the boats, but the Emden got under way at once and the boats were left behind.

Looking to the eastward, we could see the reason for this sudden departure, for a warship, which we afterwards learned was the Australian cruiser Sydney, was coming up at full speed in pursuit. The Emden did not wait to discuss matters, but firing her first shot at a range of about 3700 yards, steamed north as hard as she could go.

At first the firing of the Emden seemed excellent, while that of the Sydney was somewhat erratic. This, as I afterwards learned, was due to the fact that the Australian cruiser's rangefinder was put out of action by one of the only two shots the Germans got home. However, the Sydney's gunners soon overcame any difficulties that this may have caused and settled down to work, so that before long two of the Emden's funnels had been shot away. She also lost one of her masts quite early in the fight. Both blazing away with their big guns, the cruisers disappeared below the horizon, the Emden being on fire.

After the naval duel passed from our sight, we could turn our attention to the portion of the German crew that had been left behind, and we found that these men had put off in their boats, obedient to the signal of the siren, but when their ship steamed off without them they could do nothing else but come ashore.

On relating they lined up upon the shore of the lagoon, evidently determined to fight to the finish if the British cruiser sent a party ashore, but the duelling cruisers had disappeared and at 6 p. m. the German raiders embarked on the old schooner Ayessa, which belongs to Mr. Ross, the uncrowned king of the island. Seizing a quantity of clothes and stores, they sailed out and have not been seen since.

Early next morning, Tuesday, Nov. 10, we saw the Sydney returning, and at 8.45 a. m. she anchored off the island. From various members of the crew we gathered some details of the running fight with the Emden. The Sydney, having an advantage in speed was able to keep out of range of the Emden's guns to bombard her with her own heavier metal. The engagement lasted eighty minutes and the Emden finally

CANADIAN BATTERY IN FIGHTING NEAR LILLE

Toronto, Nov. 13.—That a Canadian automobile machine gun battery and possibly a detachment of Canadian cavalry to escort it have already been in action in France is indicated in a letter received here today from Edwin Arthur Friend, a member of this battery, in which he states that his battery was in action in the neighborhood of Lille, France. Previous letters from him stated that his battery had been ordered to France immediately, and it is presumed there would be a cavalry escort to accompany it. As the Strathcona Horse and Royal Canadian Dragoons are regular troops and well-trained and officered by experienced active service men it is thought here that they would be the regiments sent.

HUNDRED EX-R. N. R. MEN OF VANCOUVER ACCEPTED

Vancouver, Nov. 14.—The admiralty has accepted for home service the hundred ex-Royal Navy men who have been waiting about Vancouver for several weeks, hoping for an opportunity to serve the empire. They will muster to-day. The opportunity has come to the men largely as a result of the efforts of the chaplain of the mission to seamen, E. J. Leveson and W. A. Ellis.

MANCHESTER MAID ANXIOUS FOR SERVICE

Would Even Cut Her Hair Off If Allowed to Join Kitcheners' Army

London, Nov. 12.—The remarkable eagerness, which some of the fairer sex display, to be allowed to enlist in the British army has often been evidenced, but that afforded by a gallant young maiden in Manchester beats all.

Last week Captain Walkley, principal recruiting officer in Manchester, received a letter from Miss Francis Phillips, of Colleyhurst Road Buildings, Newton, which ran as follows:

"I feel it my duty to write to you. I am 20 years of age, and five feet eight in height. I am quite strong and healthy. I have never been ill in my life. I have never had a doctor, and I think I would have the pluck to join the army. My parents are willing for me to enlist, and I would be in my glory if I could join Lord Kitchener's army. Do you know when I read the paper and see how our soldiers are fighting I feel a coward standing at home. Surely I have got hands and strength to help to fight for my country. I would even cut my hair off and put all my affairs on one side if you would only give me a chance. When you have read this letter do not throw it away and laugh at it, for I am writing seriously."

Miss Phillips, a stumpy-built, vivacious young woman, told a press representative yesterday that she would "love" to do something for her country. "Lots of people," she continued, "have told me I have plenty of strength, and I have had to use it on occasions to defend myself." She related an instance in which a readiness to use her fists proved useful. "A year or two ago I was coming from a dance," she said, "when a big man stopped me and tried to snatch my bag. I gave him one 'knock' on the face and knocked him down. Then I ran off leaving him on the ground."

In reply to a question as to whether Red Cross work would not be more suitable, Miss Phillips said she had had no training at nursing. She wanted to be a soldier.

Captain Walkley has sent a sympathetic reply to the letter. He wrote: "You are showing a very fine spirit, and it is encouraging to find ladies in your frame of mind at the present moment. We only wish that others could be brought to the same way of thinking. Of course, you cannot come forward to serve in the ranks, still you are serving the country well and helping us immensely by encouraging others to come forward to sustain our army in the field at the requisite numbers."

This valiant young lady's parents are Prussian Poles, her father having been born at Kovno, and her mother in Suwalki. They came to Manchester between 20 and 30 years ago, and were married here.

CANADA IS NOT TO BUY SEVERAL CRUISERS

Ottawa, Nov. 13.—The report that Canada is about to purchase several cruisers is denied by the government. The purchase might be quite willing to make, but the reason that it is not possible for the government to purchase war vessels from a neutral nation without involving such nation in the struggle. None of the belligerent nations could sell to Canada with the possible exception of Japan, because they are in need of all they have.

It is pointed out that a precedent was established at the time of the American Civil War when the British government paid heavy damages to the United States for the destruction to the commerce of the Union caused by the famous Alabama, a ship built in a British port. The sale of a belligerent nation is just as serious a breach of the laws of neutrality as the furnishing of troops would be.

AN EASY WAY TO STOP HEAD NOISES

Good Advice For Those Who Fear Deafness.

Men and women who are growing hard of hearing and who experience a stuffy feeling of pressure against their ear drums, accompanied by buzzing, rumbling sounds in their ears, should take prompt and effective measures to stop this trouble. Headnoises are almost invariably the forerunners of complete or partial deafness, and most deaf people suffer from them constantly. Sometimes these headnoises become so distracting and nerve-racking, that they drive the sufferer almost frantic and complete nervous breakdown and even violent insanity have been known to result.

Thanks to a remarkable scientific discovery made recently in England, it is now possible to almost instantly lessen the severity of these headnoises and in a very short time to completely and permanently overcome them. With the discovery of the headnoises, the hearing can be restored to normal. This English treatment is known as Parminit and can be easily and safely self-administered at home. Leading druggists in Victoria and vicinity have it in stock. Get from your druggist 1 oz. Parminit (Double Strength) and mix it at home with a pint of hot water and 1 oz. of granulated sugar. Stir until dissolved and then take one tablespoonful four times a day until the noises disappear and hearing improves. Parminit is used doubly strength in this way not only to reduce, by tonic action, the inflammation and swelling in the Eustachian tube and to equalize the air pressure on the drum, but to correct any excess of secretions in the middle ear, and the results it gives are both rapid and effective.

IMPORTANT.—In ordering Parminit always specify that you want Double Strength; your druggist has it or he can get it for you. If not, send 25c. to the International Laboratories, 74 St. Antoine St., Montreal, P. Q., who make a specialty of it.

CAUGHT BY GERMANS FACE FIRE OF ALLIES

British Forced to Enter Enemy's Trenches; One Killed Trying to Escape

London, Nov. 14.—No more dramatic adventure of the war perhaps has befallen any one than to the Hon. Geoffrey Pearson, son of Lord Cowdray and Sergeant Major Mackay, of the Army Major Transport. Geoffrey Pearson is dead, and his body rests in the middle of a great plain, the battlefield of the Marne, surrounded by innumerable little crosses which mark the resting places of many comrades, French and British.

It is Sergeant Mackay who tells the story. "When the retreat from Mons, Geoffrey Pearson and I were acting as motorcyclists, and were letting out our machines for all they were worth along a straight road, with open country on either side. Suddenly we seemed to ride into a perfect hailstorm of bullets. Ahead of us the road ran into a little wood. 'Come on, Jeff! We'll ride for it!' I shouted, and we dashed through in safety, but hardly had we entered the wood than we rode into a group of German cavalry, scattered about on either side of the road. They immediately fired on us, and seeing the game was up we tumbled off our bikes, put up our hands and surrendered."

"The Germans were wild with delight when they discovered we were British, spat at, struck and hustled us. They allowed us to mount our machines again, but plainly let us understand what should happen to us if we attempted to escape. We had no intention, however, of letting the German army have the use of our machines if we were to be prisoners. So we turned off the lubricating oil, with the result that after a little while the machines jammed and became useless. The Germans were very suspicious and asked us why, since we were motorcyclists, we could not repair our machines by hand, and we could not be put in order again. So we left the machines by the roadside."

"The mounted grenadiers (Grenadiers zu Pferd), into whose hands we had fallen, took us to their captain, who spoke English perfectly, and said with mock politeness: 'I regret, gentlemen, that since you are not officers, I cannot put you on parole.' As a matter of fact, we were just as glad that he could not, as neither of us was reconciled to the idea of being locked up in a German prison for the rest of the war."

"The Germans treated us shamefully. They gave us nothing to eat and allowed us to sleep on the ground. The night we spent in the open, lying on the roadside without any covering between two men. The Germans made themselves comfortable enough, you may be sure. Then in the morning we were handed over to a regiment of infantry, the King of Spain's regiment of Prussian Infantry, and a revelation of German brutality. They took a sheer delight in knocking two defenceless Englishmen about, prodding us with their bayonets, jabbing us with the butts of their rifles and kicking and pushing us as we marched along with them. They ordered us to carry better parts of our kit, I took the one handed me, but Geoffrey, like the high spirited fellow he was, flatly refused and got a smack across the head with the butt of a rifle."

"The Germans took us with them in their advance against the French and made us go into the trenches with them. We were thrust into the line with the rest under a terrific fire from the French guns and infantry. The French shrapnel was awful. The Germans fell like flies and their bodies began to pile up in the trenches."

"I had a good opportunity of seeing the German soldier under fire, and I must say he is plucky enough. He seems to be imbued with a sort of Oriental fanaticism, and goes about his duties stolidly, paying no heed to the bullets flying about him. 'But Geoffrey and I were getting a bit tired of the gentle German. In the trenches we were constantly exposed to the risk of being killed by the French or British fire, so we thought we might take a chance of escape. 'We decided to make a dash for it. The Germans were all very busy with the fight, and we managed to creep away unperceived out of the trench and through the long grass. There were some civilian prisoners with us in the trenches, and they were in the last stages of physical fear. I believe the poor beggars, fearing they might have to bear the consequences if we got clear away, drew the attention of the Germans to us. Anyway, we were not more than two or three hundred feet away when the Germans saw us and opened fire. By instinct, I suppose, I threw myself flat on my face, and Geoffrey did the same. Seeing that we did not move, the Germans took no further notice of us, and I lay for about three hours, without moving. Then I noted that the Germans had left their trenches, and I turned to Geoffrey, who, like myself, had never stirred. He was dead, shot through the head.

"I had to leave him where he lay and creep away for safety. Finding a loft in the village of Varedes, I stole in there, and in the evening the Germans came back. Four of them installed themselves in the room below my loft, and for two days they remained there, while I was a prisoner in the hay above them. Hungry as I was I could not help laughing at them, that they should be there, all unconscious of the near proximity of their former prisoners."

"From the window of the loft I saw an old peasant with a cow, and that gave me an idea for escape. As soon as the Germans left the house I stole out, got into a house next door, loaned myself a suit of peasant's clothes and in order to complete my make-up captured a calf. I led it right through the German lines into the French. None of the Germans took the least notice of me, but the French imagined I was a spy, until one of their officers, who spoke English well, recognized me, and passed me through to the British."

"I have got that peasant suit still, and mean to keep it as a souvenir of my experience."

"A week later I returned to Varedes and found the body of poor Geoffrey Pearson lying where I had left it, and buried it there, with the assistance of some peasants, marking the grave with a cross, on which I cut the name and date, so that it may be found easily later on."

RUSSIANS CAPTURE TWO GERMAN AVIATORS
Petrograd, Nov. 13.—A detachment of Russian cavalry operating in the vicinity of Plock, fifty-eight miles east of Warsaw, captured two days ago two German aviators and repelled the effort of rescue undertaken by two companies of German infantry.

The aviators are Lieut. Merez and Lieut. Polite. They made a reconnaissance in an aeroplane in the direction of Konin and Plock. On the last-named town they threw down bombs. Trouble with the motor of their machine made it necessary for them to land to the west of Rypla, where a detachment of Russian cavalry found them in the woods and quickly surrounded them.

THE WAR.

The German attempt to reach the French coast between Dixmude and LaBassée has met with no better success than the onslaught along the Yser canal between Nieuport and Dixmude. Although the Germans denied the line north and south of Ypres through sheer weight of numbers they were unable to break it. On the contrary the allies have regained most of the ground from which they were driven. One report states that they have retaken Dixmude, the capture of which cost the Germans twelve thousand casualties. It is estimated that the price paid by Germany for her attempt along the coast was one hundred thousand killed, wounded and prisoners, including the commander of an army corps and a number of staff officers. The losses in the fighting on the present front have been equally large. Thus the Germans have sacrificed probably two hundred thousand men in their mad enterprise, and they have not gained five miles at any point, while the strategic positions remain in the hands of the allies. We are convinced now that the Germans have shot Bolt No. 2. Their only chance of material progress towards their objective lay in their onslaughts of the first few days. It is now too late for success no matter what temporary gains they may make. They have lost three times as many men as the allies, and their army in Flanders is proportionately much weaker than it was a week ago. They cannot fill the gaps effectively because of the pressure on their eastern front, while Britain and France actually can increase their strength at any point without difficulty or loss of time.

Several circumstances explain the ferocious efforts of the Germans to gain the French coast. Some writers maintain that their object is to attempt to terrorize Britain from Calais. This, no doubt, is what the German people believe can be accomplished. But we do not think the German staff entertain any illusion on that point. In the first place a German retreat from Flanders means an early retreat to the east of Belgium and the evacuation of Brussels. This in turn would be admission of failure in the western campaign. When the Germans were compelled to retire from the Marne they explained to their deluded people that a new battle was forming, the results of which have not been divulged by them. When the scene of combat shifted to Flanders they pointed out that they had decided to defer the capture of Paris until they had dealt with Britain. Then and not till then Great Britain became the arch-conspirator in German eyes. Formerly it was Russia and pan-Slavism. Britain must first be crushed, they said, and they had decided, therefore, to let Paris wait and make as their objectives Dunkirk and Calais, where they would mount enormous Krupp guns—purely fictitious, of course—and from which mighty transports now being constructed at Kiel would carry an army that would capture London after the German fleet had destroyed the British navy, etc. Thus they turned their people with a new emotion to hedge off any depression which might have followed a realization that Campaign No. 1, with the French capital as its objective, had been a failure.

What was the use of going to Paris when they could capture London and strike a blow at insolent, envious Britain? The German staff, therefore, did not dare to tell their people that the dash to Paris had been a failure, for Germany has had no other military diet but victory and failure might produce disastrous results. To keep up the delusion the Kaiser has announced that Belgium has been added to the "glorious provinces of Germany," while France and Russia have been "punished" for their effrontery.

But what new sentiment will they substitute when their armies are compelled to retire from their present line and, mile by mile, are driven to the eastern confine of Belgium? They then must admit that their whole campaign in the west has failed. Already a large portion of the German people are beginning to learn that Russia has invaded East Prussia and is threatening the rich provinces of Posen and Silesia. Soon they will realize how woefully they have been deceived and that their case is hopeless and will become more so the longer the war lasts. They either will submit or they will demand new leaders, and nobody knows this better than the Kaiser. A demand for a change in leadership means the end of his dynasty. In these circumstances we can appreciate the desperate nature of the German attack from Dixmude to LaBassée. It is possible that the German resistance will continue when their armies are driven to the Rhine, but we doubt it. In our opinion the German empire, as now constituted, never will survive the evacuation of Belgium.

SHOULD BE CUT OFF.

The contention of Swift Macneil, the Nationalist member of parliament, that the Dukes of Albany and Cumberland should be deprived of their British titles and whatever emoluments they possess in the United Kingdom is timely common sense. These two personages are fighting in the German army; they are doing their utmost to accomplish the ruin of the British empire, and they hold seats in the House of Lords. The fact that they are related to the King does not make them less the enemies of the British people. The Kaiser himself and not an inconsiderable number of the German nobility are more or less intimately connected by blood ties with the ruling family of Britain. Whether the Duke of Cumberland and Duke of Albany draw any revenues from the privy purse of Britain we do not know, but if they do they should be stricken off the list. It would be absurd for the British taxpayers to contribute to the upkeep of people who are attempting to put them under the heel of the German Kaiser.

At one time marriages between the dynastic families of Britain and Germany were popular in both countries. This was due mainly to the fact that there was much in common between the two peoples, who are descended largely from the same racial stock. A rift in the lute was created by the unfriendly attitude of a considerable section of the German people, led by Bismarck, towards the British princess who married the Crown Prince Frederick, and the development of the Prussian idea throughout Germany generally drew the two peoples farther apart. Alliances of this sort will be sternly discontinued in the United Kingdom in the future.

INACCURACY?

The morning paper corrects what it describes as an inaccuracy in our statement of the class of cruisers specified by the Canadian naval policy of 1910, but evidently it is not at all familiar with the facts. There was an inaccuracy in our description, but not in connection with the cruisers. Instead of three submarines we should have said three destroyers. However, this was an apparent inadvertence, for on several occasions recently we had stated that destroyers were to have been constructed.

Canada's agreement with the admiralty in 1909 provided for the construction of four cruisers of the "improved Bristol" class, six destroyers and one training ship of the Bolden type. Australia's arrangement provided for one armored cruiser of the Indomitable class, three cruisers of the Bristol class, six destroyers and three submarines. The Bristol class, to which the Glasgow and Newcastle belong, are vessels of 4,300 tons, armed with two 6-inch and ten 4-inch guns, and four 3-pounders. Meanwhile the admiralty had designed an improved class of Bristol, of which the Weymouth, laid down in 1910, was the pioneer. This type includes such vessels as the Dartmouth, Falmouth, Yarmouth, and also the Sydney, Brisbane and Melbourne. The Weymouth is a cruiser of 5,250 tons and carries eight 6-inch guns and four 3-pounders. The Sydney, Melbourne and Brisbane, while of the same class, are a little heavier, being of 5,600 tons.

The specifications issued by the Canadian government called for "four vessels of the Bristol class of the improved Weymouth type and six destroyers of the improved Acorn type." Among the firms which tendered on those specifications were Armstrong, Whitworth & Company, Cammell, Laird & Company, Swan, Hunter, Wigham & Richardson, and Vickers, Sons & Maxim. The main point, however, is that the Canadian and Australian specifications called for precisely the same class of ship, and the present government "not repudiated the bargain Canada would have had four cruisers of the class to which the Sydney has just added distinction.

Our contemporary, therefore, is quite at sea as to its facts. At the same time we could not reasonably expect that it would be familiar with the details of a class of vessel which, with Mr. Barnard, it held in lofty contempt.

DEPENDING ON OURSELVES.

The auditor-general of Canada, who was here a few days ago, expressed the opinion that one of the ultimate effects of the war would be increased production in Canada. It would compel the people of this country to depend upon themselves, forcing many of them to look more to the development of the country's resources. This is entirely true. Canada has been depending for her prosperity too much on borrowed money. Most of this has been expended in the cities and the districts tributary to the cities, with the result that the urban population has increased while the growth of the rural population has been decidedly unsatisfactory. This era has been characterized very largely by speculative rather than productive activities, with the inevitable result that the various provinces and cities, as well as the people in them, went heavily in debt.

The United States passed through a similar experience, but the day came when its people had to stand upon their own feet or fall. The civil war left the republic with a debt of more than three billion dollars, and the people realized that if their country was to pass through the trying situation which faced them they must develop it themselves. They had no other alternative. They either had to sustain themselves from the soil or starve. They began their great movement to the fertile lands of the west and gradually established themselves in spite of the hostility of Indians and other dangers and hardships. They laid the foundation of their country's permanent progress, although they themselves did not reap the full reward of their enterprise and courage. Their national debt to-day is smaller than that of Japan, being less than a billion dollars.

The present trying time in Canada is going to enforce similar intensive activity, but under happier conditions. There will be a definite exodus from the cities towards the country districts. This will not be a matter of choice but of necessity. At present there are numerous obstacles to the back-to-the-land movement. High rates of transportation, the exactions of trusts, the speculative fever, and too much professional politics have produced a deadlock, but economic conditions will hurl these artificial restrictions out of the way like an overwhelming flood. The country must set to work to tear down the fragile and fanciful structure it has been contemplating with some thing like delirious elation and build more solidly upon its natural foundation.

A SERIOUS SHOCK.

The fall of Tsing Tau was a heavy blow to the military prestige of Germany, but a far more serious shock in a material sense, and modern Germany is nothing if not materialistic. The "lease" of Kiau Chau was exacted from China ostensibly as satisfaction for the killing of two German missionaries. The object was twofold. Tsing Tau was desirable as a military and naval base and the province of Kiau Chau offered a splendid opportunity for the extension of German trade in the virgin fields of Asia. Therefore great possibilities hinged upon the death of the Teutonic messengers of "peace on earth and goodwill towards men." Germany secured her naval and military base and an advantageous entrepot for the sale of her manufactures in Asia. Her manufacturers and merchants are enterprising and something more than aggressive. They increased their business at a rapid rate. Germany's growth of trade in China during the period of possession which ended with the fall of Tsing Tau was more than fifty per cent. Tsing Tau alone yielded her forty-five millions a year. All that will cease, together with her rapidly-expanding business in the Chinese empire and the business she was fostering throughout the Asiatic continent, as a result of the anticipated fall of Turkey and the dominance of Russia. That is one sample of what the Kaiser and the German war party have thus far accomplished toward grasping for commercial and industrial Germany her rightful place in the sun. It marks the downfall of ambitions thus set forth by an author who had made a careful and intelligent study of the programme contemplated in the far east by the restless Teutons. "The German programme is as clear as the light of day. In a few years another naval base somewhere in the region of Swatow will be required, and then, linked by a system of German railways, a huge slice of northern, central, and southern China will be practically ruled from Berlin. It may seem nebulous and vague to those who sit in the darkness of blissful ignorance far away, but it is patent to those whose business it is to follow audacious empire plans. Tientsin will mark the extreme northern limit of these ambitions. Kaifengfu the northwestern, Hankow the central west, and Swatow the extreme south."

The Conservative Toronto News says "there is as much patriotism in giving employment as there is in giving money for relief of distress or supplies to the Belgians and troops in the field." Our own provincial government might profitably make a note of this. But feasting "the boys" during years of prosperity, or rather of prodigality, has been its specialty.

VANDALISM!

New York Herald.
"Officially through 'decked out' Hamannian dispatches that come through Sayville, unofficially through more reliable sources, Germany is asserting that it has a great abundance of food and supplies of all kinds. Rascally pictures are painted of the low prices and general contentment at Berlin and stress is laid upon the splendid condition of German finances.

Then why the wholesale pillaging of Belgium?
Why the hoarding at Berlin of the enormous amount of foodstuffs and stores 'captured' at Antwerp? Why the barbaric money levy against that city, when the charitable of the neutral world are being called upon to save several millions of Belgians from starvation?
Properly the support of the homeless and the starving of Belgium should be assumed by Germany. According to its own showing, not only has it no need for what it wrings from bleeding Belgium, but it could easily support the Belgians from its abundance.

Is it Germany's desire to earn the distinction of being the vandal among nations?

TO CANADA.

Percy Mackaye in Boston Transcript.
Men of Canada,
Fellow Americans,
Proud of the fight you wage,
Proud of your valiant youth
Sailing to battle for freedom and order.

On our own battlefields
Many's the bout we had—
Yankee, Canadian, redcoat and ranger;
But our old brotherhood,
Stanch through the centuries,
Shouts in our blood now to share in your danger.

Ah, it's a weary thing
Waiting and watching here,
Numbing ourselves to a frozen neutrality:
Yet, in a world at war,
The our good part to keep
Patient to forge the strong peace of finality.

Though, then, our part be Peace,
Yet our free fighting souls
League with your own 'gainst the world-
lust of Vandals;
Yes, in the dreadful night,
We, with your women, weep
And for your shoreless dead burn our aching visions.

So, by the goddess law
Of our sane borderline,
By our souls' faith, that no border can sever,
Freedom—now may you fight,
Waging the death of war,
Silence the demons of cannon forever!

Kin-folk of Canada,
So may, your allied arms,
Smite with his legions the Lord of Disaster!
God speed your noble cause!
God save your gallant sons!
Would we might sail with them—over the border!

LES ROSES DE SAADL.

(From the French of Marceline Desbordes-Valmore.)
I longed at the dawn to bring thee roses,
But my girde which so oft encloses
Thou, O'er pressed with love's ease, en-folds thee not.

The strands have broken. The roses
drifting
Far on the wind, have flown to the shifting
Sea, following the waters, to return not.
Crimson, red is the wave, as though inflamed.

At dusk, my garments still by them perfumed,
Breathe o'er me memories, incensed,
ne'er forgot.

WORRY IN HAMILTON.

It would be unfortunate were there to be any trouble over the Home Rule Bill just now. God knows, Britain has trouble enough now without creating more.

Royal Oak Women's Institute.—Two courses are being given to the members of the Royal Oak Women's institute at present. One of these is being given by Miss McKenzie on home nursing, and the other by Miss Livingstone on cooking. Both the courses are being well attended and the members of the institute appreciate them very much.

Saanich and Burnside Road.—Reeve McGregor appeared before the streets committee of the city council yesterday afternoon to ask that the city participate in the work of repairing Burnside road, which is in a very bad state through the transportation over it of water pipe for Sooke waterworks. A committee was appointed to act with the Saanich council.

Barrister as Defendant.—Judge Lampman spent the last two days in Vancouver, where he presided at the trial of a member of the bar of that city. He went over at the request of Judge McInnis, to take the case, as naturally the Vancouver judges felt unwilling to sit. The defendant was J. H. Clouston, and the result of the hearing was his acquittal on a charge of fraud. W. M. McKay prosecuted for the crown and Mr. McClouston was defended by M. B. O'Dell and J. E. Sears.

Protest Against Closing.—At the streets committee meeting yesterday the aldermen decided to call for opinion from the city solicitor with regard to the proposed closing by the Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway company of the Johnson Street bridge from 10 p. m. to 5 a. m. to pedestrian traffic. It was stated that on account of proposed retrenchment in every direction the company intended to withdraw the night watchman and close the bridge. Alderman Okell strongly protested against the proposal, which he said would cut off a direct route to Victoria West.

Anderson; citizenship vice-president, Harry Faulkner; social and literary vice-president, Miss Maude Webster; temperance vice-president, Mrs. Mitchell; secretary, William Telfer; treasurer, Gordon Leeming. Two new members were received into the league. It was announced that a special service would be held next Monday evening when the speaker would be Rev. Hugh Dobson, secretary of the Social Service Commission for the Methodist church in Canada, with headquarters at Regina. ## TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TO-DAY

Victoria Times, November 14, 1889.

The sale of Nelson City lots to-day by J. P. Davies and Company was well attended, bidding being brisk. The prices ranged from $60 to $165, the chief buyers being Robert Ward, T. R. Smith, James Fell, James Hutcheson, W. H. Ellis, Dr. T. R. Jones, A. Henderson, W. P. Sayward, H. Jacoby, H. F. Heisterman, H. G. Hall, W. Ralph, W. Christie and C. Gamble.

Parties on Wharf street were started about 3.30 this afternoon by a terrific explosion with flying mud and stones. A new 12-inch gas main has just been put in along Wharf street, and although the workmen assert that no gas has been turned in, it exploded with great force. No one was hurt, but an expressman had a narrow escape.

The house and about half an acre of ground on View street, opposite the residence of ex-Mayor Fell, has been disposed of by James D. Robinson, ex-City Clerk, to a Mr. Hines, a wealthy resident of Honolulu. The consideration was $2,500.

Phoenix Stout, $1.50 per doz. qts.

Extension of Time.—The Vancouver, Victoria & Eastern Railway company is going to apply to parliament at the forthcoming session for an extension of two years in the time given by its act for completing the construction of uncompleted portions of its line.

Tariff Approved.—The board of railway commissioners has approved a standard freight tariff issued by the Victoria & Sidney Railway company, applying locally between stations on its line in British Columbia.

Won Prizes.—A successful whist drive was held on Thursday by the Ivy Leaf club in the Knights of Pythias hall, fifteen tables being occupied by the members and visitors. Among the ladies Mrs. Gravlin won first prize, Miss Warrman second, and Mrs. Stafford the ladies' consolation prize. Mr. Ferriday took first honors among the gentlemen, E. Oddy second, and H. McPeck, the consolation prizes.

Fisheries Inspectors.—The following have been appointed inspectors of pickled fish and fish canneries in British Columbia: J. Broder, Nanaimo; Adam Mackie, Port Essington; C. Ternan, Vancouver; J. J. Cowie, of the department of the naval service, is to be general inspector of pickled fish and fish canneries in addition to his present duties as expert fish curer in the department.

Pacific Great Eastern Progress.—D. Aray-Tate, vice-president of the Pacific Great Eastern railway, is back from the scene of operations on that line and reports that there are seven thousand men at work on construction from the Lillooet river east and north. The construction of the line, which is being given from Squamish as far as the Pemberton Meadows, is proving a great convenience to the residents and settlers.

May Work Hardship.—So that hardship may be avoided in bringing the tent by-law into force as against the tents at Hollywood crescent, the mayor was asked by the aldermen at the meeting of the streets committee yesterday afternoon, to look into four cases which had been reported by the police for prosecution. It was explained that all the families were so poor, that they would be homeless if compelled to give up their tents.

Connaught Seaman's Institute.—On the application of J. A. McDougall, chairman of the committee of the Connaught Seaman's Institute, and H. B. Thomson, M. P. P., the city council, sitting as a streets committee yesterday afternoon, decided to improve two small spaces adjacent to the new institute building. The work will be under the charge of the parks department and trees will be planted and the vacant space covered with turf.

Miners on Service.—By a federal order-in-council recently passed holders of mining rights in the prairie provinces, the territories and those portions of British Columbia in which the Dominion has the control of land are being protected while they are on active service. They are free from all obligations of cancellation of their rights while they are away and for six months after the final termination of the war and the final declaration of peace.

Apples for Panama-Pacific Fair.—A shipment of one thousand boxes of British Columbia apples has been forwarded to San Francisco as part of the Canadian exhibit at the Panama-Pacific fair to be opened early next month. The shipment was made for the federal department of agriculture by R. G. Clarke, chief fruit inspector for this province. One carload was assembled at Summerland and the remainder was secured in and about Vernon, and Mr. Clarke is greatly pleased with the whole exhibit, which he considers will be one of the striking features of the fair.

St. John's at Home.—The Bishop of Columbia addressed the large gathering of St. John's parishioners at the "at home" on Thursday evening in St. John's schoolroom, congratulating the Ladies' Guild and the Women's Auxiliary on the success of their anniversary celebration in honor of the Rev. F. A. P. Chadwick's coming to the parish a year ago. There was a large attendance despite the rainy night, and there was an excellent programme of music rendered by the choir of St. John's church, Madame Marie Burnett; Miss Fox, Mr. Petch, and a trio of male voices, contributing vocal numbers also.

Projected Railways.—At the next session of parliament the Pacific, Fraser River and Athabasca Railway company will ask for authority to construct lines of railway from the head of Kitimat arm, by way of the Kitimat river, Lakelse lake, crossing the Skeena and the line of the G. T. P. by a high-level bridge, the Kitsumkalem river, Seax river and the Naas river to Aiyansh, a distance of about 112 miles; and from the junction of the Bulkley and the Naas, along the valley of the Bulkley to the Bulkley river, to the Skeena, and up the Skeena to the mouth of the Bulkley river, about 57 miles.

FABRICS OF PAST ARE IN VOGUE TO-DAY

Velours and Ratine With Plush-Like Pile for Daytime Wear; Brocades for Evening

New York, Nov. 7.—The new fabrics on the market this season are far less in quantity than last. The variety, however, does not seem to be lessened, for it merely means that instead of having the new women have gone back to many of the fabrics which have been considered passe for many seasons.

Velour delaines and ratine are recent novelties which have held their own. This year they have become thicker and the pile of the velour delaine is heavier, making it seem almost plush-like.

Brocade is another fabric that has a renewed vogue this year, and many suits and costumes of it are to be seen. The chiffon brocade, which is light weight in comparison with the other broadcloth, is used extensively for one-piece dresses. Black, blue, green, beige and mauve are colors which are especially attractive in broadcloth.

Faille, once called Ottoman and bengaline, is very popular in silk or wool. It has a suppleness and a firmness which make it especially suited to the one-piece frock. The clothes of the season are what determines the fabrics and this year the one-piece frocks and separate coats cause fabrics supple and substantial to be the mode.

There is serge, the standby of decadres, gabardine and fabrics which have a long-haired silky finish called, kitten's ear, peau de souris (mouse skin), and zibeline. Velvet, imitation mink and Persian-lamb cloth complete a wide variety of the smart fabrics for the daylight hours.

The jumper effect in dresses which is so popular at the present time, adds another happy way of combining fabrics and colors. In faille silk comes a long tuniced frock with a pleated lower skirt and a jumper basque waist. The sleeves and underarms of this waist are of soft silk with a Paisley design. A close-fitting little hat with three perky feathers in the front gives extra dash to the costume.

Faibles in gray and festive colors are always a bright note in the seasons when they are popular. In greens and blues with a touch of red or yellow they may be used to advantage for the winter frock, which is primarily for home wear, but which may fill many wants under a stylish separate coat. The model illustrated is in dark green with a blue and black stripe checked on with narrow lines of serge. The bodice is in basque effect and the skirt has a long tunic which dips to the edge of the lower skirt in front and graduates higher in the back. The lower skirt and crushed girdle are of black. The flaring collar and rounding cuffs are of doubled white organdy.

Brocades which embody in themselves all the sumptuousness of a century ago are the fabrics used for evening gowns.

On heavy silk, this voile, chiffon or velvet, gold and silver threads are woven into the brocade designs. There are also velvet brocaded voiles and chiffons with a bit of gold or silver in or outlining the design. These brocades are not stiff as of old, but soft and pliable, draping most artistically.

Black satin, faille and velvet hold a strong place among evening gowns. These are lightened by the use of ribbon sashes in vivid shades, as well as by the wonderful Roman striped ribbons and silks which are very popular. Some of the newest of these show the autumn note in their combinations of russet brown, green and dull red with always a stripe of black. This new color scheme is also to be seen in the new taffetas. Taffeta, by the way, is used a great deal in combination with serge and gabardine.

For the younger generation come chiffon voiles with a six or eight-inch satin stripe in self color or woven on the edge. Tunics and flounces are made with this stripe on the edge and with the plain voile for the rest of the frock. These voiles come in all the light shades so popular for evening wear, soft blues, shell pinks, varying shades of green and in a yellow that so closely resembles gold that it hardly seems possible that it is not a metal cloth.

The costumes at present demand many accessories in the way of neck wear, and the present tendency in these dainty lace and organdy affairs is toward the cape effects. Fichu effects are also to be seen and are an attractive addition to a dark frock of serge, gabardine or satin. On the popular dark blue frocks are to be seen cuffs and collars in yellow crepe or ecru linen. One set of ecru linen had turn-back cuffs and standing collar hem-stitched in an inch-wide hem. Another set was of white linen with yellow stripes about a quarter of an inch apart. The collar was high and did not meet in the front, while the turn-back cuffs were wide and pointed. The edges of collar and cuffs were bound with yellow serge, matching the stripe in the linen.

There has been a good deal of talk about the advent of low-heeled shoes, but, except for the walking shoes with rubber soles and spring, or very low heels they have not appeared. Short vamped shoes are again appearing, with high French or Vienna heels. The Vienna heel is quite the newest heel and is neither French, Cuban nor Mexican. It is high, narrow and straight and looks pinched.

A new shoe model which is having a vogue among the people who allow themselves the luxury of changing with every whim of the merry jestress Dame Fashion, is square toed, with high French heels. This shoe is fashioned after French shoes.

For the indoors there are shoes with a white kid vamp and black patent-leather back portions and strappings. A single black and white ornament is placed in the front. The bronze shoes made on a pointed last and with high French heels are conservative and yet when used in the right way give an air of careful consideration to a costume.

AT THE THEATRES

"WITHIN THE LAW."

"Within the Law," which the Alton Players are putting on next at the Princess theatre has the unique distinction of having started twelve state investigations into proper wage conditions for women in the United States and having caused six big department stores in New York to raise the wages of their shop-girls.

Theodore Roosevelt said in a letter to the author: "As a good citizen I want to thank you for your play." Roosevelt is not alone among the prominent men who have written in admiring terms of this great play. Alan Dale, the leading dramatic critic in America, said of it: "If you don't think you should, if you are the right sort, you will." The Bishop of Wyoming said: "I shall never forget the lesson it portrayed; it stares me in the face to-night. The lesson of universal brotherhood will be drawn home to all those who witness this great play." The secretary of the Women's National Union of New York wrote: "Within the Law" is within life every line of it. It is a story of absorbing interest, cut out of human experience.

It is a play which reveals great truths with staggering plainness, none before have so many prominent men come forward and publicly expressed their appreciation of a play as in this instance. The New York Evening Globe paid it a very high tribute.

LOEW'S VAUDEVILLE.

The clever funmakers, Joseph E. Bernard and Hazel Harrington, offering their true-to-life play, "Who is She?" will head the bill at the Royal Victoria theatre commencing Thursday, Nov. 19 and running for three days. They have a comedy skit which illustrates the first quarrel between a newly-married couple. A jealous bride becomes suspicious when her husband receives a peculiar note and her efforts to find out who the strange writer is and her husband's unique method of turning the tables on her offer a constant succession of laughs. The sketch ends happily.

A beautiful musical specialty will be offered by McIntosh and his Musical Maids, the "maids" being three pretty Scottish girls, attractively dressed in kilts. They are all versatile and show their ability as singers, dancers, pianists and instrumentalists, playing drums, violin, Scotch bagpipes and brass instruments. The Nichols Nelson Troupe, offering one of vaudeville's prettiest juggling novelties, can do anything with hoops and diablos but make them talk. A big feature on the bill will be the dancing of James and Pearl Matthews, who made a sensational hit in "Over the River." Eddie Foy's musical comedy, "They claim to be the fastest whirlwind dancers in the world."

Wardell and Hoyt, "The Italian and the Boss," will offer a classic in side-walk patter and will sing some of their own parodies on the latest popular songs. Fred Hillebrand, a tall, angular individual of pleasing personality, will talk about his physical peculiarities and especially his weird dance.

"MILESTONES."

One of the most talked of plays of a generation, interpreted by a remarkable English company, will be seen here on Tuesday and Wednesday, Nov. 17 and 18, when "Milestones," the famous comedy by Arnold Bennett and Edward Knoblauch is to be offered at the Royal Victoria theatre. The story shows the life of two families through three generations. John Rhead, shipbuilder, defies his partner's family, dissolves partnership, and even risks losing his fiancée because he will go in for building ships of iron instead of wood. Twenty-five years later the same John Rhead, married, prosperous and about to become a baronet, opposes a proposition to build ships of steel instead of iron, a project devised by his daughter's sweetheart, a brainy young draughtsman. He prevents his daughter from marrying the choice of her heart and makes her wed a peer old enough to be her father. Another generation passes, and the shipbuilder baronet, now in his 77th year, and on his golden wedding anniversary, endeavors to frustrate the proposed match between his granddaughter and a fine young engineer who sees a career for himself in the Canadian far west.

This time the old baronet's efforts are frustrated by his wife, who pleads for the girl's happiness.

THE GERMAN METHOD.

Captain Stewart of the Royal Army Medical Corps, in the course of a letter to the Rev. A. J. Robertson, the rector of Freshwater, Isle of Wight, says "The Germans are very fond of the 'white flag' trick, and hundreds of our men have been killed by it. They show the 'white flag' and come forward in columns to give up their arms. When our men come out of the trenches to take them prisoners they open out and disclose Maxim guns, with which they immediately open fire and mow our men down. They have abused the flag so often that now the order is going round, 'No notice is to be taken in future. Fire is to be kept up just the same.' Five hundred Germans were wiped out the other afternoon by our fellows when—hoping to bluff the troops as of old!"

AMUSING BILL NEXT WEEK.

Frances Clare and Guy Rawson conclude their headline attraction at Pantages theatre to-day with the usual performances. This afternoon the girls accompanying the principals entertained the juveniles of the audience in a reception on the stage.

Next week the headline attraction will include one of the most masterly pieces of stagecraft known to vaudeville. This occurs in the musical and scenic transformation novelty, "The Musical Blacksmiths," in which the stage is set for a blacksmith's shop, but in the twinkling of an eye is turned into a palatial drawing room in which the erstwhile grimy smiths are seen in evening dress.

That fine little comedy skit entitled "Billy's Tombstones," which bubbles with laughter from curtain to curtain, is another of Manager Rice's offerings for next week. It was from this sketch that the well-known and successful farce comedy, "Billy," was built up from, and the original is said to be better than the elaborated version.

The versatile comedian, Joe Lanigan, will give "A Prescription in Contentment," while amusing memories of a town-let boom will be called up by Quinn and Mitchell in their skit, "The Lemon Land Agent." Skillful hoop rolling by the three Kraytons and a good movie film complete a bill which promises to set the pace for a successful week.

Three characters in "Milestones," which will be offered at the Royal Victoria Theatre next Tuesday and Wednesday.

Away with Drugs!

Look at the diagram below. It shows how the lungs and the stomach are entirely separate organs reached by entirely separate tubes. What you swallow goes to the stomach. What you breathe (and only what you breathe) gets to the lungs and air passages direct. Now you see how useless it is, when you have a cold, or a cough, or bronchitis, or catarrh, to dose the stomach (which may be quite healthy) with drugs! What you need is something you can breathe to the lungs direct!

That is Peps. Peps is the name of a new scientific preparation containing highly medicinal essences and pure extracts, condensed into tablet form. You put a Peps on your tongue, and as it slowly dissolves, these volatile essences turn into vapor. You breathe the remedy to your sore, ailing chest and lungs, direct—not swallow it to your stomach, which is not ailing. The healing fumes, thus breathed down, bathe the delicate, inflamed membranes of your breathing-tubes, and pass right on to the tiny passages of the lungs—a course no liquid or solid medicine could possibly take.

Peps fumes are healing and antiseptic. They soothe sore tissue and kill disease germs. Peps brings relief to forest fumes to your home, instead of you going to the pine forest! Just as the open-air cure—the breathing cure—is the only rational cure for consumption, so the Peps breathing cure is the only rational cure for catarrh, colds, coughs, asthma and bronchitis.

Dominion Senator Praises Peps

Senator Derbyshire, of Brookville, Ontario, says: "I am pleased to express my high opinion of Peps. Some time ago I contracted a very bad cold, which settled on my lungs and bronchial tubes. I almost lost my voice, was constantly coughing, and experienced considerable pain. A friend offered me a box of Peps, and I tried them. I was very much pleased with their almost instant action. They seemed to go direct to the sore places, stopped the coughing, and made my breathing easier. I continued their use for a short time, and they completely cured my cold."

Peps are best for children, too, because they contain no opiates or poisons. See box, all drug stores and stores. Write for free trial packet to Peps Co., Toronto, or 25 Princess St., Winnipeg, sending in stamp for postage, and this ad.

NEWSPAPER DAY

Various Bodies Giving Hearty Support: Good Results Hoped For.

Many public bodies are co-operating to assure success for the Newspaper Day on Friday next. Letters have been received by the Victoria and Island Development Association from the Real Estate Exchange, the Retail Merchants' association and other bodies endorsing the scheme.

In concise form, matter about this district which has not appeared before will be published. This is the very best way of informing the outside world about the advantages of the place. The part the citizens can play is to send copies to their friends in all parts of the world. Copies, wrapped for mailing, may be obtained at the stores as well as at the office of the paper. It is felt that as the population of Victoria has been drawn from many parts of the world, the people thus having friends at near and far points, Newspaper Day provides an excellent opportunity for bringing before as many people as possible the advantages there are here for those who wish to find a pleasant place to live in, either for business purposes or during the leisure time of life.

The Development association itself proposes to distribute from 500 to 1,000 copies of each paper. The retail merchants are asked to make use of their advertising space in the daily editions to draw attention to Newspaper Day and to indicate under what terms copies will be given away at the stores for mailing.

It but remains for the citizens to do their share and see to it that the Newspaper Day copies have a wide circulation so that the maximum of results will be obtained.

When once you have conceived and determined your mission within your soul, let insight arrest your steps. Muzzini.

Series of Addresses.—The second of the series of addresses being given under the auspices of the British Israel association, will be given on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock by E. Middleton. The meeting will be held in the Congregational church building, and will be open to the public.

St. Michael's Guild.—The members of St. Michael's guild, Royal Oak, are busy on the arrangements for their annual sale of work, which will be held in the Royal Oak hall on December 12. The proceeds will be devoted to the reduction of the debt on the vicarage, which is still heavy, and a generous response from the members and friends of the church is hoped for on that account. A wide range of useful and fancy articles, suitable for Christmas gifts, will be offered for sale. A special feature of the sale will be a stall provided by the gentlemen.

Luncheon For Visitors.—Dr. Samuel Atkins Elliot will be the guest of honor at a luncheon to be given at the Empress hotel at 1 o'clock on Monday. Any gentlemen who wish to meet him are requested to telephone 3611, for particulars. Dr. Elliot, who is a son of the famous educator, Dr. Charles William Elliot, is president of the Unitarian Association of America, and is taking the opportunity afforded during his visit to the Pacific coast in capacity of Indian commissioner of the United States government, to visit some of the churches on the coast.

Orchestral Concert.—The sixth popular Sunday evening concert will be given by the Victoria Concert Orchestra in the Princess theatre tomorrow evening, commencing at 9 o'clock. Mrs. Roy Troup will sing twice her first number to be "Your King and Country Wait for You," and her second, "The Call." Mrs. Gibson, who composed the music for the latter song, will preside at the piano. The orchestra will play several old favorites, such as "Humoresque," "Barcarolle," (From Tales of Hoffman), Padgrewski's Minuet, Mendelssohn's Wedding March, and, for a final number, a big selection of Bagdad should prove very attractive, as such a large orchestra is seldom heard in Victoria.

Social Education Meetings.—The Bureau of Social Education will hereafter hold the meetings in connection with its educational work in the auditorium opposite the city hall, where the stereopticon views illustrating alcohol will be used. The programme for tomorrow will commence at 3:45 sharp, when Dr. Ernest Hall will give a lecture on "Alcohol in Relation to Economics." Dr. Hall will also give some statistics of Kansas under prohibition, which should be of interest. The chairman will be William Marchant, and Rev. Dr. Scott will give his support by being present. In addition to the lecture there will be a violin solo by Miss Jessie Byrd, and a recitation by Miss Gawley. Admission will be free, but a collection will be taken up, the surplus portion of which will be given to the relief of the unemployed.

TO HOLD MEETING

Building Trades Unions Will Consider Cut in Wages and Determine Their Course.

One week ago it was announced that there was to be a reduction of wages on contracts being carried out by members of the Victoria Builders' Exchange and the letters communicating that fact have now been under the consideration of the various labor unions in the city for some days.

As a result of the change and the natural aversion to having wages cut in the building trades when work is uncertain, it is proposed to hold a joint meeting of the unions whose members are engaged in construction to determine what action shall be taken under the changed condition of affairs. This gathering will be held in the near future, probably next week.

As most of the building in the city to-day is on behalf of the government, or for public bodies, the effect of the proposed reduction must necessarily be felt on the standard wage paid on public contracts, as that scale fluctuates with general conditions elsewhere. There was considerable divergence of opinion recently in cases where contractors reduced the standard prior to the announcement of the members of the Builders' exchange.

WONDERFUL BOOK DESCRIBING THIS STRANGE FORCE AND A CHARACTER DELINEATION POST FREE TO ALL WHO WRITE AT ONCE

The National Institute of Sciences of London, England, has appropriated $25,000 toward a fund for the free distribution of Prof. Knowles' new book, "The Key to the Development of the Inner Forces." The book lays bare many astounding facts concerning the practices of Eastern Yogis, and explains a wonderfully simple system for the development of Personal Magnetism, Hypnotic and Telepathic Powers, and the curing of diseases and habits without drugs. The subject of a letter to Prof. Knowles, says: "I consider your system the most complete and accurate literature upon the subject. You have treated the science with much ability."

A Prominent American Physician, A. W. Fisher, M.D., Ph.D., M.R.C.P., Principal of the Douglas's Institute, writes: "Your system is very useful to me in my practice. It is clearly and powerfully taught, and the person who wishes to achieve greater success has but to apply the simple rules laid down." That many wealthy and prominent people owe their success to the power of Personal Influence there is not the slightest doubt. The great mass of people have remained in utter ignorance of these principles. The National Institute of Sciences has therefore undertaken the somewhat arduous task of distributing broadcast, without regard for class or creed, the information heretofore possessed by the few. In addition to supplying the books free, each person who writes at once will receive a character delineation of from 60 to 100 words as prepared by Prof. Knowles. "I want power of mind. Force and strength in my look. Please read my character. And send me your book." Also send your full name and address (state whether Mr., Mrs., or Miss) write plainly, and address your letter to: National Institute of Sciences, Dept. 85, G. ### LADIES WILL WITNESS SERIES

R. B. Benjamin Arrives Here To-morrow to Complete Billiard Arrangements for Hoppe and Inman Matches

R. B. Benjamin, manager of the Willie Hoppe-Melbourne Inman tour, is expected to arrive here to-morrow from Vancouver, when arrangements for the four game series between this famous pair of billiardists will be completed. Geo. Nicholson, Mr. Benjamin's local representative, has closed for the use of the C. and C. billiard parlors, in the Metropolis building on Yates street, for this series and a local referee will be selected for the matches. The series will open on the afternoon of November 24, and will conclude on the 28th, four sessions being played.

It is stated by Mr. Nicholson that reservations will be made for the lady billiard enthusiasts at all of the matches, and the suggestion has been made that one afternoon be set aside for ladies only, when both of the stars will give a display of the different styles of billiards.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—Can Alfredo de Oro beat Melbourne Inman at English billiards?

"Yes," answers Louis Bensinger, the veteran Chicago roomkeeper and friend and admirer of the peerless Cuban billiard champion for a quarter of a century.

And Bensinger backs up his answer by offering to wager any amount from $1,000 to $10,000 that with three months' practice at English billiards, De Oro can lift the crown from the head of the clever Briton at the latter's own game.

There is no keener judge of billiards or a billiardist in the world than the veteran Bensinger. The gentleman's game has been his life's study. As a fan he always has enjoyed it and in a business way it has made him wealthy. Starting twenty-five years ago with a small room and a few tables, Bensinger's two great halls on Monroe and Randolph streets respectively now boast seventy billiard tables and sixty bowling alleys. And even these giant establishments are inadequate, as a craze has sprung up for English billiards, and Bensinger, like Mussey, Leffingwell, Foley, and other Chicago roomkeepers, must make room for the huge 6x12 English pocket table, which requires considerable more space than the regulation American or French billiard table.

It was whilst trying to map out a plan for the addition to his Monroe street hall of a couple of English tables that Bensinger was asked by one of his enthusiastic young patrons "if there was a player in the United States that he thought could beat Inman at English billiards."

Bensinger Names De Oro.

Like a flash came the answer—"De Oro"—and then Bensinger went on to give his reasons for selecting the marvelous Cuban southpaw, who not only won permanent possession of the Jordan Lampert trophy, emblematic of the world's cushion championship, by the recent defeat of George Moore in New York, but who has held the angle and pocketed a larger number of times in the last two decades than any knight of the cue, past or present.

De Oro has consented to meet Inman for the world's championship at English billiards.

EASTERN TRADES

SKENE RONAN

Ottawa hockey star, who has refused to come to the coast. Ronan also states that he will not play with the Ottawa club this winter and the latter team is endeavoring to trade him to the Toronto club for Jack Walker. Percy Lesieur, the veteran goal tend, is booked for the Montreal Wanderers, in exchange for Carl Kendall, who formerly played with the Vancouver club.

SEATTLE TO PICK

ALL-STAR ELEVEN

Victoria Representatives Attend B. C. F. A. Meeting at Vancouver

Important questions will come up at the B. C. F. A. meeting which is to be held at Vancouver to-night. Messrs. Walker, Youson and Bain will represent the Victoria Football association and they will press the claims of the North Wards as British Columbia champions of 1914. Another matter that will come up is that of the Cup Ties that are now being played throughout the province. The Victoria delegates endeavor to have the date set back two months, in order that they may have time to complete all preparations for the Peden Cup Ties.

Seattle, Nov. 14.—When a team from the Northwest league makes arrangements to play an all star aggregation from Victoria it put the quality of the Northwest league in a bad light by receiving the inevitable severe drubbing which conveys to the followers of soccer the impression that the Canadians are superior players to those on this side of the line. Only a few weeks ago the local Celtic demonstrated that a club team here is as good as a club team in Victoria by holding the Thistles to a tie score.

Why not let an All-Northwest eleven tackle these Victoria stars and show soccerists that the footballers here are as good as those on "the other side of the line?"

Chelsea have signed on Charley Miller, of Cambuslang Rangers. He is an outside right.

David McLean, of Sheffield Wednesday, heads the goal-scoring list in the first division of the English league. His total is 16. Kings of Arsenal team in the second division with 10, and Paddock, of West Ham, tops the list in the Southern with eight.

The transfer business has been killed by the war.

Parker is proving very effective for Everton this season. The ex-Ranger had four goals against Liverpool and two against Bradford.

Tom Gracie is playing in great form for Herta, while Richardson is proving a veritable find to Ayr United. Both Liverpool and Sunderland have good reason to rue the transfers of those departed centres.

To win the Glasgow cup, Clyde played five games, and the only goal scored against the club was by White, of Thirds, at Ibrox. Clyde registered six goals, four of them scored by Allen.

It is estimated that 160,000 soccer players have enlisted since the outbreak of the war. Of this number, 30,000 are from the London district alone.

Jimmy Quinn made his first appearance of the season for Celtic against Falkirk. He only gave a moderate display.

Meredith and Hunter have been suspended by the management of Manchester United as the sequel to a threatened strike amongst the club players.

No mystery in creation need sadden us, as long as we believe nothing of the invisible world inferior to what the visible proclaims.—Leigh Hunt.

TENNIS STARS ARE ALL AT THE FRONT

Wonderful Showing of Davis Cup Teams When Europe Called Sons to Arms

The Australasians and British Isles tennis stars have been active in Great Britain's martial affairs. The British Isles team of James Cecil Parke, A. H. Lowe and T. M. Mavrogordato left Boston immediately after their defeat by Australasia at the Longwood Cricket club in Boston and arrived home safely. Lieut. A. R. F. Kingscote also was a member of the British Isles team, but because war was imminent did not come to this continent. Kingscote is in the Royal Garrison Artillery and now is drilling recruits at Gosport.

Parke has become a lieutenant in the Sixth Battalion, Leinster Regiment, Mavrogordato is in training with the Public School Corps at Epsom, and Lowe has applied for a commission.

Wilding has been at the front for some time. He was a member of the landing naval force which went to the relief of Antwerp some time back. Brookes, who was not very fond of noise when he played in the challenge round at the West Side Tennis club, in Forest Hills, evidently has acquired a taste for it, as he has joined the army and expects to go to France very soon in charge of a motor ambulance. Lieut. Otto Frolitzheim and Oscar Kreuzer, the two German players who met Anthony P. Wilding and Norman E. Brookes, the victorious Australasian combination, in a preliminary tie at the Allingburgh County club, near Pittsburgh, were the first of the racket wielders to become involved. As a matter of fact, their connection with the war now is only negative, for they were captured by a British cruiser after they had left New York for their native shore and were taken to Gibraltar as prisoners of war.

It has been reported that P. de Borman, W. H. Davivier and A. G. Watson, the trio which represented Belgium against the British Isles team in the first round at Folkestone early in July, were among the first Belgians to go to the front when Belgium called for men to preserve her neutrality.

Max Decugis, the French champion, who played in the second round against Great Britain, is now a corporal in the French army.

May, the Winnipeg star, who was a member of the Davis cup team, is now with the first contingent at Salisbury Plains.

THOMAS SAYS MACK HINTED AT SWITCH

American League Magnates Want to Place a Winner in New York

Ira Thomas, Connie Mack's veteran backstop, stated in Portland the other day that the reports were probably correct that Eddie Collins would handle the New York Yankees next year. Thomas says that Mack told him after the world's series that he was going to cut down expenses and the fact that he has asked for waivers on Coombs, Bender and Plank shows that the local chief means business. The story now going to rounds is that Mack is to get Slim Caldwell and Luke Boone for Collins, while the Yankees are now looking for a new outfielder, said to be one of the real stars of the game. This may mean that Joe Jackson is to be traded by Cleveland to New York. The recent meeting of the American league magnates gives credence to these rumors as Frank Farrell was not disciplined for letting Frank Chance get away, in view of his plans to secure Collins.

Walter McCredie announces that he has signed a Chinese player for next season. The tosser in question is named Akana, and hails from Honolulu, playing with the all-Chinese team in the City league there. Akana is a left-handed hitter, and was recommended to McCredie by a friend of his there. Akana is half Kanaka, half Chinese, and has already signed his contract, which is reposing in the club safe at present. He will report to the club next spring if the McCredies are still in charge.

Brooklyn, Nov. 14.—Charles H. Ebbets has determined to remedy before next season the deplorable pitching weakness to which he attributes the failure of his club the past year. The president of the Dodgers already has signed eight new pitchers for the campaign of 1915. All of them have affixed their signatures to ironclad one-year contracts, which give Manager Robinson options on their services for 1916. The pitchers are Edward Appleton, L. J. Cuddeback, J. J. Clarke, W. G. Bell, Edward Donald, R. H. Goodbread, R. B. Howell and P. Toney. All but Goodbread were secured in the recent secret draft on minor league clubs. Goodbread's release was purchased from Oshkosh for $8,000.

If beef, brawn and youth measure pitching effectiveness, Wilbert Robinson should have a prize twirling corps for next campaign. His heavy of embryo stars average 191 pounds in weight, 6 feet 1 inch in height and 24 years in age. All are right handers.

BRITAIN'S TRACK STARS IN TRENCHES

Walter Knox Says That Old Country Athletes Have Been Breaking All Records

Toronto, Oct. 30.—Canada's greatest living active all-round athlete, Walter Knox, of Orillia, has arrived home from England. Knox was the recipient of the honor of being selected as coach of the Olympic team from the British Isles and had done nine months' work getting ready for the German Olympiad when the war broke out. He had a three-year contract, but surrendered his contract in view of the circumstances, and returned to Canada.

"The war certainly knocked things sky high in England," he remarked. "It put the Olympic games into the discard in a hurry and turned sporting things topsy-turvy. About 75 per cent of the athletes of the country were enlisted or enlisted and hurried to the front."

"How about the prospects for the Olympic team as far as you went?" he was asked.

"Things were looking fairly bright," he replied. "The chief opposition I had to meet was from old-time trainers and handlers of athletes. They had been established so long that they were well known fixtures, and their methods were regarded as gospel. They were 50 years behind the times, and most of their proteges had to be shown before they would change."

"England has one real coming world's champion in Howard Baker, a high jumper. I saw him do 6 feet 5 inches, and he jumps with his back to the bar. When he gets the turnover he will beat the world's record of 6 feet 7 inches. Hunter, an Edinburgh man, looked good, too. He does 6 feet in the high jump and 23 feet 3 1/2 inches in the broad. Jackson, the Oxford student, is the best runner in England. He is a natural runner, and a really good one."

"England has three good sprinters in Applegarth, Taylor, and Rooney, all London men. Applegarth is the best 220-yard amateur in the world running under a bend. He can do 21 2-5 seconds, and will improve. I hear he has turned pro, and will run Jack Donaldson. Donaldson will beat him if the race is run on the square. Taylor is a good man, but he has had to change his methods. Rooney is good at anything from 100 to 200 yards."

"In the field events England is very backward. Barrett, of the London Polytechnic, put the shot 46 feet after a little fresh instruction. He can be made a really good man."

CHAMPIONS HAVE HAD HARD SEASON

In all the festive history of sport 1914 must stand alone for championship setbacks. The laurel has been torn from almost every brow beneath the great white spotlight of fame, throned title holders:

- 1.—American polo team.
- 2.—Cornell in rowing.
- 3.—English crew at Henley.
- 4.—Willie Ritchie, lightweight champion.
- 5.—Harold Hilton, British amateur golf champion.
- 6.—J. H. Taylor, British open champion.
- 7.—American entry in Davis cup matches.
- 8.—McLoughlin to Williams in American championship.
- 9.—Francis Guimet, open champion.
- 10.—Jery Travers, amateur golf champion.
- 11.—New York Giants, National league champions.
- 12.—Philadelphia Athletics, world's champions.

In golf, tennis, polo, rowing, boxing and baseball—six major sports—no less than 12 champions were dethroned in less than six months. And this isn't a complete list. But it is complete enough to round out a title devastation never before approached.

DUNDERDALE STILL DICKERING FOR BOOST

Winnipeg, Nov. 14.—Del Irvine, the Monarch's clever cover point, will turn professional this winter if the Patriots are willing to come to his terms. He wired Frank Patrick yesterday that he would be quite willing to play at the coast this winter if he was guaranteed a three-year contract at $1,000 per season. It is hardly likely that the coast manager will accept this proposition. Tommy Dunderdale, another local boy who has already made good in professional company, has not decided if he will report to Victoria or not. He is still dickering with Lester Patrick, who has issued a report that if Dunderdale does not report for practice next month he will be suspended.

INMAN VICTOR.

Edmonton, Nov. 14.—Inman and Hoppe played 1,500 points at English billiards here yesterday, the English champion having no difficulty in securing his quota of points while Hoppe was scoring 531. Play in the afternoon was slow, requiring eighteen innings, and Inman complained that the table was not true. This fault was rectified in the evening, and the Englishman put up a vastly improved game. His high run of 209 was made during the night game. He also made runs of 130 and 99. Hoppe's best scores were 67, 46 and 45.

SOCCER MEETING.

A special meeting of the Civic Service Athletic Association will be held in the City Hall on Monday evening, Nov. 16, at 8 o'clock.

CHAMPION MACAN AGAIN FAVORITE

This afternoon at the Oak Bay links, the second round of the British Columbia golf championship contest is being held, these matches being for the possession of the Bostock cup, emblematic of this title. A. V. Macan, who won this honor last year, is again favorite for the championship, winning his match yesterday from Arthur Coles. Only one match of the first round is yet to be played, A. T. Goward and S. G. Wheatley playing off this morning. The complete results were: W. H. Ricardo beat H. Horton, who previously beat J. W. Morris; A. V. Macan beat A. Coles; B. Wilson beat H. G. Garrett; T. B. Tye beat Jack Rithet; A. V. Price beat H. G. Wilson; J. S. Bowker beat R. C. Wallroth; P. Criddle beat C. S. Birch.

SPLENDID SUCCESS OF LACROSSE DANCE

Victoria's amateur lacrosse deficit will be wiped off the slate this winter, if the success of last night's dance can be taken as an indication of the attendance at future dances of the Victoria Lacrosse club. The affair was all that could have been desired and the large throng of dancers continued to trip the light fantastic until the wee small hours. Miss Thain's orchestra provided the latest popular dances, and splendid refreshments were served under the able direction of Caterer Paulin. The committee in charge consisted of Dr. G. A. B. Hall, E. H. O'Neil, F. L. Sweeney, W. A. Blake, A. McGregor, Byron Johnson and C. E. Burnett.

BASKETBALL TEAMS PREPARE FOR SEASON

Winter's premier indoor sport, the game of basketball, will be in operation Saturday, Nov. 21, when the Vancouver Mounties will play the local V. M. C. A. senior team here. V. M. C. A. are preparing for the engagement, and are showing excellent form in their checking and shooting.

By January 1, the City Sunday School league will be under way. The Metropolitans, holders of the Knott trophy, have already reorganized, and are ready to defend the shield.

Victoria West basketballers are clamoring for competition for their three teams, and are trying hard to form a city league in the senior, intermediate and junior divisions.

ROCHON UNABLE TO PLAY THIS SEASON

Coast Teams Have Numerous Changes Since Last Year; Amateurs to Aid War Fund

According to Bob Genge, the Portland club will have to go without the services of Geo. Rochon, their star point player this season, as stated in the Times last week. Rochon is now laid up in a hospital at Fort William with a knee that is requiring medical attention and he will be unable to play hockey again. Genge states that Rochon injured his knee playing baseball and his refusal to leave the member treated only increased the danger, the doctors at one time being afraid that they would have to resort to amputation. Rochon's absence will leave a big gap in the Portland defence and the management will probably move Johnson back to point, Ottman going in at cover. The latter has played on the defence several times and has all the ear marks of a wonder at that position.

Vancouver is still dickering for a forward to take Sibby Nichols' place on the line. They have the following probable team signed up: Goal, Lehman; point, Griffiths; cover, Cook; rover, Taylor; centre, Mallen; left wing, Neighbors; right wing, McKay or Matz. Portland's line-up: Goal, Mitchell or

New York, Nov. 14.—Contrary to reports, New York will not enter professional hockey this winter. Manager Fellows, of St. Nicholas rink, quoted as saying that he would place a team in either one of the professional circuits, said there would be no move made until next season.

Mr. Fellows said last night that the time was short to get together a strong team this winter, but as soon as he decided the question as to which association he would enter he would engage a manager and sign up a team for next winter. In the meantime he will arrange to bring Canadian professional teams to New York. He plans to have the Canadians play every two weeks at St. Nicholas rink, with the final series at the end of the season. It is possible that he will get together his team in time to play exhibition matches with teams from the Dominion before the present season closes.

It is expected that Norval Bapiste, world's champion speed and fancy skater, will return to the coast early next month and will be seen at both the Vancouver and Victoria rinks. His performances on the steel blades during intervals at the hockey matches last season were feature of the games.

The Winnipeg clubs will devote 50 per cent of their earnings to the patriotic fund and will ask the rink management to contribute at least 10 per cent of the receipts.

Bert Lindsay is expected here tomorrow from the east.

Phoenix Stout, $1.50 per doz. qts.

REMARKED ON THE SIDE

One Style of Rugby is Needed.

With the eastern Canadian coaches being imported into the States to teach the Americans the open passing game and the British Columbia teams unable to compete with their eastern cousins because of the different styles of rugby, it is time that some one stepped forward with a plan for an All-Canada rugby game. The old country style is admittedly the most open, but the numerous kicks to the touch line and the uncertainty of the scrum are pointed out as points which mar the game. The eastern Canadian game is far more open, and judging from the crowds they draw, this style appeals to the masses. Team work is needed in both the open play and the massed plunges, but something must be done if ever there is to be a truly Canadian championship team. We have Dominion championships in hockey and lacrosse, so why not in rugby?

Calgary Waiting for the Mann Cup.

Judging from the following clipping from the Calgary News-Telegram, the prairie folks are longing for the Mann cup: That Mann cup hasn't arrived yet. Now and again there is a note in the newspaper to the effect that Calgary lacrosse players are anxiously waiting for the cup that never came. It is evident that unless they get busy and compel them to send it along the tinware will not decorate the mahogany in this burg this winter. But it will have to come eventually, for there is no doubt whatever in the writer's mind but that the trustees have definitely decided the junk don't belong to the V. A. C. team, and although they like to keep everything at the coast that ever lands there, they will eventually find that this dipper is for Calgary. It is a hard pill for Vancouver to swallow, and they are beginning to think now that Calgary will not let it get away as easily as they took it.

N. H. A. Does Not Control the Rinks.

George Kennedy's statement in regard to the rinks is foolish on the face of it. The N. H. A. are not yet in control of the different arenas, and it is very likely that the people who control the ice are willing to accommodate all the hockey leagues that want to play. Mr. Kennedy will have a fine battle on his hands if the Nationals ever start, as most of his crew belong to the National association and are not very strong for little "George." Kennedy is a sport promoter pure and simple, and he is the first one that is likely to crawl if it comes to a show-down. He quit the Big Four lacrosse league as soon as he stood to lose a little money, and will not go far if it comes to a battle. At present hockey players are waiting to see which way the wind blows, and are returning their contracts unsigned to the N. H. A. magnates. The new league may be several times a "bloomer," but it is going to cost the N. H. A. magnates some worry and considerable more money before they get their stars in Jr

Victoria Lodge, No. 1. At a meeting of this lodge on Monday evening last one member was elected to the lodge by affiliation. It was decided to hold a whist drive on the last meeting in this month. Bro. F. Davey, P. G., on behalf of the members of the lodge, presented Bro. H. J. Fancett with a case of cutlery on the occasion of his marriage, and expressed the best wishes of the brethren for a long and happy wedded life to the brother and his wife. Next Monday evening the second degree will be conferred on several members, and a full attendance of the degree team is requested.

Columbia Lodge No. 2. The first round of the whist tournament was held last Wednesday evening, and quite a large number of members participated. The entertainment committee intends holding these tournaments on the second and fourth Wednesdays in each month during the winter season, and judging from the interest displayed last Wednesday evening the tournaments will be a huge success. It is hoped that there will be a larger number take part at the next tournament. First nomination of officers took place at the last session. The second nomination of officers will be held next Wednesday evening, and the semi-annual election of officers on the last Wednesday in the month.

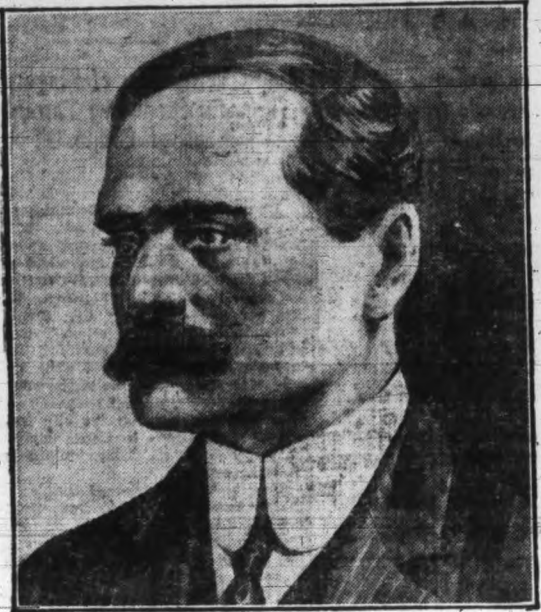

Dominion Lodge, No. 4. The attendance on Thursday evening was remarkably good in view of the very inclement weather. The first call for nomination of officers took place and everything points to keen competition on election night. During recess the members enjoyed an impromptu concert and a very pleasant hour was spent. Next week the first degree will be conferred, and Team Captain Thomas Graham is anxious to see a good attendance.

Benefit Dance. The benefit dance given last night under the auspices of the various I. O. O. F. lodges was a success in every way. There was a large attendance, and the music supplied by Bro. G. Ozard's orchestra was most satisfactory. The supper was an excellent one, and the decorations were tastefully arranged. The committee in charge of the arrangements were given much credit for the success which resulted from their efforts.

Grand Master Coming. An intimation has been received from Bro. H. White, grand master, Cranbrook, that he will pay an official visit to the lodges in this city on Monday, December 1. The grand master asks that a joint meeting of the three lodges be held that evening, and expresses the wish that he may witness some degree work.

Breathes there a man with soul so dead,

Who never to himself hath said:

This is my own, my native land.

Let me talk to you about Nerve Troubles.

Our nerves are like an intricate network of telegraph wires. They are controlled and nourished by a portion of the brain known as the nerve centres. The condition of the nerve centres depends upon the condition of the bodily health. When the bodily health is lowered the nerves suffer in sympathy. Then it is that we are tormented with "nerves," headaches, neuralgia, nervous debility. In such cases there is nothing to equal Wincarnis, the "Wine of Life." Wincarnis is a powerful nerve food which acts directly upon the nerve centres and gives them new life and new vitality. The result is wonderful. Will you try it?

$8,500.00 Damages Awarded in Street Railway Accident

Nervous system so terribly shattered that paralysis set in.
Examined by eleven doctors.
Recovery attributed to use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Mrs. May Wright

Mrs. MAY WRIGHT, 1133 King St. W., Toronto, has written of her wonderful recovery as follows:—"On May 25th, 1913, I met with an accident when a Bathurst St. car crashed into a Queen St. car and I was thrown over three seats and under the front seat. As a result my spine was badly injured and paralysis set in. My nerves were shattered and for a whole year I was in a completely helpless condition. I had no appetite and could not sleep and when it was necessary for me to appear in court I was carried in on a stretcher. I was examined by eleven doctors and among them were several of the very best medical authorities in the city of Toronto. Some of these doctors claimed I could never recover and the court awarded me $8,500.00 and costs."

The most wonderful part of it all is the benefit I have obtained by the use of Dr. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD. Gradually and certainly this great nerve restorative has built up the nervous system until I am getting back the old time health and vigor.

I sleep well now, appetite and digestion are good, and I cannot say enough in praise of this great medicine."

Facsimile of final check received by Mrs. Wright in settlement of Court's award

This interesting case proves once more the marvellous up-building and reconstructive influence of DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD on the nervous system. In the most natural way imaginable this great food cure nourishes the exhausted and depleted nerve cells back to health and strength and thereby removes the cause of nervous headaches, sleeplessness, nervous indigestion and nervous prostration. In almost every community of this great country are to be found people who have been cured of serious disease by this great restorative. Write for booklet on the "Nerves." DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD, 50 cents a box, three months' treatment, 12 boxes for $5.00. At all dealers, or Edmanston, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

BELIEVE OIL-TANKER

FOUNDERED OFF CAPE

Capt. Tompkins, of Kingsway, Reports Steaming Through Miles of Crude Oil

Upon his arrival at Victoria yesterday, Capt. Tompkins, master of the British steamship Kingsway, made inquiries as to whether any news had been received here of the foundering of an oil-tanker off Cape Flattery. When his ship was entering the Strait of Juan de Fuca at 1 o'clock on Thursday afternoon he noticed that for many miles the sea was covered with crude oil. The Kingsway was in the oil area for some little time and while his ship's bow was churning up the oily waters the thought came to Capt. Tompkins that a liquid fuel carrier might have met her fate.

The theory is advanced that an oil-tanker bringing a cargo from California to British Columbia or Puget Sound foundered off Cape Flattery during a violent storm. Through the enormous quantities of oil which were floating on the surface it is believed that there must have been a source beneath the waves from which the oil could have come. The belief that some ship might have pumped oil from her tanks into the sea to quiet the breaking waves is dispelled through the fact that the oil was seen covering such an immense area. It is quite possible that a large steam schooner with her oil tanks full might have sunk off the Cape and the oil be rising from her, but shipping men seem to think that Capt. Tompkins is nearer the point when he believes that an oil-tanker has been lost.

There is a large fleet of oil-tankers operating between the oil-fields of California, British Columbia and Puget Sound ports at the present time. If one has been lost wreckage from the foundered vessel should be cast up on the beach of Vancouver Island before long. Further details of the reported disaster are anxiously awaited.

AMONG LAST VESSELS

TO USE DARDANELLES

Kingsway Carried Grain From Black Sea to England; Loaded Coal in 24 Hours

Among the last ships to slip through the Dardanelles before that famous waterway was closed by the Turks was the British steamship Kingsway, Capt. Tompkins, which arrived in port yesterday from the United Kingdom. The vessel had in her holds a full cargo of grain from Russian ports on the Black Sea, and was on passage to England when war was declared. The Turks immediately closed the Dardanelles to shipping, and the Kingsway just managed to slip through.

Upon reaching the United Kingdom the steamship was discharged with great speed and ordered to proceed to Cardiff, Wales, to take on a full cargo of coal for Esquimalt. As a demonstration of the splendid facilities which the mines there have for coaling a ship, the Kingsway was only under the tips for 24 hours. The coal was poured into her holds through numerous channels and the settling of the ship in the water was quite perceptible.

The Kingsway made the voyage from Cardiff to Esquimalt via the Panama canal. When she reached Colon news was flashed through the canal zone that a landslide had occurred in the Culebra cut. The ship was lifted in the Gatun lock and came to an anchor in the Colon lake. She had to remain there for nine days before the dredges had succeeded in clearing the cut and making it possible for ships to navigate in safety.

After clearing for Balboa, the western entrance to the canal the Kingsway was 2 days on the voyage to Victoria. She bucked northwest winds and a head sea all the way up the coast. At times the weather was very dirty. After entering the Strait on Thursday afternoon a strong easterly gale set in. The night got very dark and the heavy sleet made it impossible for Capt. Tompkins to pick up Race Rocks light with the result that he steamed about the Strait until daylight yesterday morning when he went into William Head.

The Kingsway is under charter to the British government.

SOUND HALIBUT BOATS

TYING UP FOR WINTER

Seattle, Nov. 14.—The halibut fleet is beginning to lay up some of its boats for the winter. The Atlantic is in the Hecate Strait with not more than a week's haul of fish—about 200 pounds in all—and will be laid up. A little tough weather was run into and it was hard to locate the fish.

The Constitution, which brought 15,000 pounds of halibut into port several days ago, will be laid up until after Christmas. She probably will go up to Ketchikan and Hecate Strait shortly after New Year's.

Several other ships of the halibut fleet will be laid up as soon as they come into port. The others will be kept in service during the winter.

LOCAL BOATS SUFFER

IN GALE AT SEATTLE

Restorer, Prince Rupert and Trader in Trouble During Thursday's Storm

Several Victoria steamers were in trouble at Seattle on Thursday night as a result of the 61-mile gale which swept the Sound. The shipping in Seattle harbor had a terrible time holding on the moorings and some vessels broke adrift. Ships trying to run into the Sound harbor were held stationary for several hours by the tremendous velocity of the wind. Damage amounting to several thousand dollars was done along the waterfront by the great storm.

The Grand Trunk Pacific steamer Prince Rupert, which was at No. 1 buoy dragged her moorings 500 feet, and the officers were on deck all through the storm watching the cables to see that they did not snap. The cableship Restorer, Capt. Coombe, lost her main boom, which when carried away brought the antennas of her wireless outfit to the deck. The little freighter Trader, also of this port, broke from her moorings and rammed the barge Argus. The damage was slight. Both the Prince Rupert and Restorer were ordered to Seattle by their owners after the outbreak of war.

Other Ships in Trouble.

The great liner Minnesota at Smith Cove after steaming at her lines, finally jerked away half the length of a 1212-inch stringer on which was an iron cauldron to which the spring line was attached.

While the storm was at its height, the halibut schooner Washington, on her way to Seattle from the Alaska banks, was off Point No-Point. The little craft, carrying 30,000 pounds of halibut, fought with the gale and for four hours remained practically stationary, unable to make headway.

The tug Ruth, belonging to the Pacific Towboat company, had in tow a log raft consisting of ten sections, which she was taking to Ballard. The raft broke away during the gale, and the logs were scattered.

Two scows which were being towed from Port Angeles by the tug Stimson, broke away from the tug off West Point.

Big for the fact that the halibut steamer Chicago was at the Chilochee Fisheries company's dock at the foot of Water street, there is no doubt that two big gravel-laden barges would have pushed their way through the dock to the street. The Chicago acted as a fender. Her side was stove in above the water line, and her rails were badly split and torn. The scows both capsized. In addition to ramming the Chicago, one of them drifted into a pushed over against the Chilochee dock about two feet out of plumb. Two flatcars that were on a small pier were pushed over against the Chilochee warehouse. One of the barges also rammed into the bunkers of the Richmond Sand & Gravel company, and practically destroyed them. Part of the bunkers this morning are lying on top of the warehouse.

Damage totaling close to $500 was sustained by the halibut schooners Seymour, Alten and Myrtle Endrege, docked at Piers 3, 4 and 5 from the Alaska banks. The vessels pounded heavily against the dock during the storm, smashing their guard rails and sustaining other damage of a minor nature.

At the height of the storm, the schooner Tordenskjold arrived from the Alaska banks. She was off West Point when the storm broke and had a three-hour fight with wind and sea before she could reach Pier 8.

BRAVE SURVIVORS OF ALEXANDER AT FRISCO

San Francisco, Nov. 14.—Bearing evidence of famine, thirst and exposure caused by a 600-mile journey in an open boat, five survivors of the wreck of the American schooner S. T. Alexander, including Capt. J. Lorenzen, the vessel's master, reached San Francisco on the Oceanic liner Ventura.

The Alexander was cast upon Tafu Island, an uninhabited member of the Friendly group, in the South Pacific, during a terrific hurricane September 17. After four days on the island, Capt. J. Lorenzen called for volunteers to man one of the schooner's small boats saved from the wreck. Four sailors responded, and these, with Capt. Lorenzen, after eight harrowing days, reached Suva, in the Fiji Islands. Thence they were sent by British authorities to Pago Pago, where they boarded the Ventura as she called for mail.

Arrangements were made at Pago Pago for an Austrian vessel to call at Tafu Island to rescue the six other members of the Alexander's crew, who preferred being marooned there to accompanying their comrades on the hazardous trip in the small boat.

The Alexander was formerly in the sugar trade between this port and Honolulu, but at the time she was lost was carrying lumber from Puget Sound to the South Seas.

PATRIOTIC FUND

October Contributions From Government Employees Amount to $1,750.33; Other Amounts.

The committee of the Victoria Patriotic fund today received a cheque from R. E. Toomey, chairman of the sub-committee of the fund, for $1,750.33, this representing October contributions received by the provincial government employees sub-committee. The subscription came with a note appended to the effect that with the exception of the government agency officials—unsubscribing through this sub-committee, it was understood that government employees, non-resident in Victoria, were subscribing through their local branches of the society.

A. Macdonald, of Sidney, has handed in to the fund the sum of $55.65, this being the proceeds of a patriotic concert held in the Institute hall, North Saanich, recently. The concert will probably be repeated at a later date, and the proceeds given to the fund. The fund has also benefited to the extent of $12 by some ducks presented by A. McLennan, of Beaver Point, Salt Spring Island, these being sold at the Temple building, and the proceeds handed to the Patriotic fund.

The following circular of questions and answers is being distributed by the Canadian Patriotic fund committee:—For how long shall I have to serve?—Till the end of the war and six months after its termination if required. 2—What will happen to my wife and children? Your wife will get $20 per month separation allowance for herself. She can look with confidence to the Canadian Patriotic fund to supplement this by whatever amount is necessary to meet the needs of the home. 3—What shall I get myself? You will get, to begin with, $10 a day and all found. 4—What will happen if I am maimed by loss of limb? You will receive a pension at such rates as may be fixed by the government. 5—What provision will be made for my family if I am killed? They will be cared for by the Canadian parliament and the Canadian people, whose wards they will become.

ELECT OFFICERS

At the meeting of Ward One, Saanich Ratepayers' association last evening, the following officers were selected: President, C. King; secretary, treasurer, Christopher J. McRae; executive, G. E. Davidson, W. McCully, J. Hill, Mr. Horner, and E. H. Cotterell.

Mr. Horner suggested that the association should again choose Council Borden as candidate for councilor, but Mr. Cotterell opposed on the ground that the small body of ratepayers represented in the association had no right to dictate to the large body of electors. The selection should be left to a general meeting of ratepayers of the ward. This course was adopted and the meeting will be held on December 4, all electors of the district being invited to attend.

Council Borden dealt with the work of the year in the council, while Mr. Cotterell led the meeting that during the coming election campaign he would have something to say about the financial situation.

Council Borden is chairman of the finance committee of the municipal council.

His books, "The Selkirk Settlers in Real Life," "The Making of the Canadian West," and "Our Task in Canada," are all interesting and widely read. ## WILL REPAIR TEES

WITHIN FIVE DAYS

Steamer's Stem is Twisted but Otherwise Her Hull is Tight; Brought Fish

About five days will be sufficient time to put the C. P. R. steamer Tees in seaworthy condition again. The vessel was hauled out on the Victoria Machinery Depot ways last evening and a survey of her injuries performed this morning showed that the damage was not as great as was anticipated. Part of her stem is badly twisted and several new plates will have to be rivetted on to the bow-frames.

It was thought that the Tees suffered some damage along her bilges, but the survey showed that her hull was tight everywhere but in the bows. The steamer struck the rocky cliff at Hell Gate, Alberni Canal, and did not go ashore, as was first reported. She struck her nose very hard against the cliff and in clipping away it was feared that her bilges might have come in contact with the rocks, but they evidently cleared successfully.

Work to be Rushed.

The Victoria Machinery Depot will rush the work on the steamer. She is scheduled to sail for Holberg and way ports on Friday night next and it is expected that she will be off the ways by that time. In case the work takes longer than at present anticipated, the C. P. R. will make arrangements to place another steamer on the run for one trip.

The Tees arrived from her Clayoquot trip at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon and had favorable weather except on Thursday night, when a howling gale set in with a fierce snow storm. It was during this trying weather that the steamer struck. The Tees brought a full list of passengers to Victoria and has a small shipment of salmon in her holds.

SAILORS MUTINIED ON RUSSIAN WINDJAMMER

Portland, Or., Nov. 14.—Seven sailors on the Russian barque Thomasia, which is completing a grain cargo here, mutinied last yesterday, locked the first and second mates in the cabin, drove the captain ashore and conducted a reign of terror until police reserves arrived in a harbor patrol launch and subdued them.

Objection to going to sea for fear of capture by German cruisers was the mutinous sailors' grievance. They had demanded to be paid off here and released, and their demands had been refused. Then they attacked First Mate John Johnson and Second Mate Lars Gustafson. A fight ensued, in which several men, including the two mates, were badly beaten, and the mutineers succeeded in looking up the officers. Capt. K. A. Frederickson rushed to the rescue, but retreated ashore when attacked in force. Five of the mutineers were finally lodged in jail to await the sailing of the Thomasia for London next Monday, at which time they will be placed on board again.

EMPLOYMENT OF ALIENS.

To the Editor:—The problem before the city council appears to be, "Who shall deal with this question?" The ratemakers are being called on to find one dollar per day for each alien in the city of Victoria.

The unemployed of this city claims (and rightly so) that it is the duty of the city council to see that "Who shall deal with this question?" The ratemakers are being called on to find one dollar per day for each alien in the city of Victoria.

CRITICAL TIME OF WOMAN'S LIFE

From 40 to 50 Years of Age.
How It May Be Passed in Safety.

So, Wellington, B.C.—"For a year during the change of life I was all run down. I was really too weak to walk and was very despondent and thought I was going to die, but after taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier my health and strength returned. I am very thankful to you and praise your medicine."

I have advised several women who suffered as I did to try your remedies. You may publish this if you wish. Mrs. DAVID R. MORRIS, South Wellington, Vancouver Island, B.C.

No other medicine for woman's ills has received such wide-spread and unqualified endorsement. We know of no other medicine which has such a record of success as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For more than 30 years it has been the standard remedy for woman's ills such as inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, periodic pains and nervous prostration, and we believe it is unequalled for women during the period of change of life.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (Confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

that purpose, and that it is probable that only 50 per cent. of the women who are at this age will be able to assume that are at least 3,000 (probably more) persons out of employment in Victoria to-day.

Now I hold that it is the bounden duty of the government to immediately grapple with this problem with the help and advice of the city council, and that, failing some immediate practical solution of this difficulty, the mayor's city should at once open an "unemployment relief fund."

I would suggest that, say, three members of the council and three members of the unemployed committee should be constituted as administrators of the fund, with power to add to their number, representatives of various philanthropic and friendly societies and others interested in the work.

Subscription lists should be opened at once, and the offices of the council and Times and at the various banks and other public institutions, inviting contributions from the general public towards alleviating the great distress that at present prevails in our city.

I would suggest that tickets should be issued to deserving cases, as and when they are ascertained, the same to be signed by a committee of duty appointed for that purpose, and of a certain face value, which can be utilized by the recipient at any store or other place of business for the purchase of food, clothing or other necessities.

I do not believe that any but the needy would apply for relief, and in any case, the committee would be responsible, that there would be no misapplication of the funds.

Now when the need is greatest is the time to act, and if a public fund, such as or similar to the one I have indicated is promptly started, it will go a long way to help the unfortunate people in our midst who, through no fault of their own, are unable to get employment to keep body and soul together, and many of whom have wives and little children dependent on them.

I am satisfied that never has the lack of employment been so prevalent nor actual distress and want of the bare necessities of life been so acute as it is at the present time, and I feel that if the good people of Victoria, who have so nobly responded to the various patriotic funds now opened in behalf of sufferers going to the war, will give a similar opportunity to help the sufferers in our midst that they will promptly respond to the call for help.

We most of us hope and believe that things will improve, but, until they do, let us be "up and doing" in our own city, bearing in mind that "charity begins at home" and also that "Bis dat qui cito dat."

How to Peel Off a Weatherbeaten Face

It's really a simple matter to renovate the face soiled by dirt, wind or cold. Ordinary mechanical wax, used like cold cream, will transform the worst old complexion into one of snowy whiteness and softness. It literally peels off the water veil of surface skin, but so gently, gradually, there's no discomfort. The worst of all is the chapped, cracked, freckled, faded or sallow skin. Apply before retiring, washing it off mornings. Many skins wrinkle easily with every wind that blows. An excellent wrinkle-remover, because it tightens the skin and strengthens relaxed muscles, is a wash lotion made as follows: Powdered saccharine, 1 oz.; dissolved in witch hazel, one-half pint. This gives immediate results.

Madge—"So the great specialist-cured me of my nervousness." Mrs. Jones said her face was so large, she concluded she could not afford to have it any more.

To the Editor: I recently attended a meeting at the Variety theatre, with regard to the above, when the question of the unemployed in this city was discussed, both by representatives of the workers and also the city council. The seriousness of the question was admitted by all parties, and various suggestions were made as to the best way to deal with the present serious state of affairs, and from the speeches made I gathered that the trend of the meeting was to wait until Sir Richard McBride had returned to the city, when further deputations would wait on him with the object of getting certain projected public works started, so as to increase the pay roll and correspondingly to reduce the amount of unemployment.

Well, sir, the above suggestion is all right so far as it goes, and, with all belief in the wisdom of the premier and other members of the government, I fail to see how they can possibly ameliorate the present unhappy conditions unless they at once make a start on the various public works which have been in contemplation for so long a time past.

I am informed that recently about 1,400 names were registered of persons out of work at the offices opened for

M'GILLIVRAY CREEK WENT HIGHER TO-DAY

Local List of Prices Showed Improvement at Morning Session

Excellent strength pertained to McGillivray Coal & Coke this morning, the bid rising to seventeen and a half following early concerted support. B. C. Refining went higher and it was well evidenced throughout the session that outsiders were tending support in these and other issues where before only nominal quotations were to be seen.

Others of the list that have generally drawn price interest ruled quiet, as was the case yesterday. Standard Lead stood firm at $105.50 at which level it seems disposed to stick.

SELLING AT WINNIPEG BELOW FRIDAY'S CLOSE

Winnipeg, Nov. 14.—Liverpool cables were firmer than anticipated, considering the weaker market on this side on Friday, which was responsible for the steady opening. For some time following there was quite a lot of selling causing a decline of 1/2c. to 1c. under Friday's close, but meeting the close shorts covered and prices advanced to previous high points. Oats showed extremely weak, declining to the extent of 1/2c. to 1c., recovering in sympathy with wheat. Flax opened 1/2c. to 1c. higher, and previous to noon had advanced 3/4c. to 1c. higher. Trading was active the greater part of the session. Winnipeg futures closed 1/2c. lower to 1c. higher. Oats closed unchanged to 1/2c. lower. Flax was strong, closing 1/2c. to 1c. higher. The demand for cash wheat was again excellent for all grades, and a fair volume of cash wheat was sold. ### CEMETERY SITE

Members of Real Estate Exchange Lay Views Before Aldermen.

Suggestions with regard to the purchase of the new cemetery site were laid before the streets committee of the city council yesterday afternoon by a deputation from the real estate exchange. A. B. Fraser acted as spokesman.

First he dealt with the Mount Douglas site, referring to the proposed price of $1,000 per acre. Secondly he spoke of the desirability of considering transportation questions before pledging acceptance of any offer. In the third place he urged that the land should be purchased on an agreement of sale, rather than that the city should purchase by paying in full.

Other members of the deputation, E. B. Bagshaw and A. H. Harman, also briefly spoke.

Mr. Fraser suggested that a cemetery trust might well be established here.

Answering criticism, Alderman Sargent declared he would challenge any one to find land that would meet the requirements of the proposed burial ground at a cost of less than $1,000 an acre.

In his opinion, the bulk of the criticism came from men who wanted commissions on sales of land or else had sites to offer.

The deputation was thanked for its attendance.

It was a quiet country place, renowned for its golf links, and a young fellow had come down for practice. "Do you play golf?" he asked of a simple but gushing maiden. "Dear me, no," she bashfully replied. "I don't believe I should ever know how to hold the caddy."

The Frenchman did not like the look of the barking dog baring his way. "It's all right," said his host; "don't you know the proverb, 'Barking dogs don't bite'?" "Ah, yes," said the Frenchman. "I know the proverb, but you know the proverb; but the dog does he know the proverb?"

"I was out motoring the other day," "Is that so?" "Yes, and I came to a river, but could find no means of getting my machine over." "Well, what did you do?" "Oh, I just sat down and thought it over."

"The new minister had just commenced his sermon, when he noticed a small boy standing in one of the pews shooting peas out of a pea-shooter at the congregation. The minister was about to reprimand him when he explained: 'It's all right, sir, you go on with the sermon. I'll keep 'em awake.'"

"The Frenchman did not like the look of the barking dog baring his way. 'It's all right,' said his host; 'don't you know the proverb, 'Barking dogs don't bite'?' 'Ah, yes,' said the Frenchman. 'I know the proverb, but you know the proverb; but the dog does he know the proverb?'"
